Shelter Cove Apartments Meet Protest

Planners Postpone Action To Next Meeting, Jan. 13

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night heard protests from an overflow crowd in the city council chambers to an application for a use permit to build six five-unit apartment houses in the Shelter Cove area.

The planners took no action, but continued the matter for further deliberation at their next meeting, Jan. 13.

MORE STUDY

The meeting last night was for a public hearing on the pros and cons of the application, said Mrs. Ruth Sisson, planning commission secretary. She added that the commission now wants to study the application further for these reasons:

1. For a more careful check of the variances requested.

2. To determine, if possible, if the applicant, Views Land Co., is the owner of the property. (The application says the firm is the authorized agent of the owner.)

TO EYE PROTESTS

3. To consider the protests prior to making a recommendation on whether the use permit should be issued.

The application requests three variances. One is that 1,000 square feet of land space be provided for each apatment and not the required 1,250 square feet. The applicant also wants the required setback along Richardson street between Second and Front streets reduced from 10 to five feet. And the applicant is asking that the 32-foot height limit be waived so that six flues, 18 feet in diameter, can rise three feet beyond the limit.

LEGAL RULING

City Atty. John B. Ehlen ruled that the application was subject to the subdivision ordinance. Mrs. Sisson said this ruling was considered by the subdivision ordinance committee of the planning commission, and that this was its report:

"Inasmuch as the property . . . appears to be a subdivision as far back as 1925, it was the opinion of the committee it would not require the usual tentative and final map procedure, but rather that the application be examined on the basis of 1—Street improvement; 2—Utilities, and 3—Trees." Gilbert Murphy is chairman of the committee. Other members are Rolland O. Simpson and Edgar Rose.

WEATHER MAN INSISTS RAIN STILL ON WAY

That promise of rain yesterday proved as hollow as an empty rain barrel, the U.S. Weather Bureau admitted today. The storm just plain evaporated.

But the forecaster was still hopeful. There should be some rain in the Bay Area Saturday, he said.

A new storm forming over the Pacific is moving toward the Canadian coast. The southern end of the storm is expected to cause rain in California from Pt. Arena and Redding northward by late tomorrow.

Novato reported the lowest temperature in Marin County this morning with a bracing 34. Bolinas registered a thawing 49, San Anselmo 40 and San Rafael 47.

13 Of Escaped Convict Band Back In Prison

IVY BLUFF, N.C. (AP)—Thirteen of North Carolina's toughest convicts, who escaped Tuesday and took an arsenal of weapons with them, were behind bars today.

All surrendered without resistance. But seven others were at large and presumed carrying 11 weapons including a submachine gun.

Twelve surrendered in Virginia and Ohio after hardly 48 hours of freedom. Another prisoner was retaken near Ivy Bluff the day of the breakout from the maximum security prison here.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said the captures yielded two rifles and four revolvers of the 17 weapons taken from Ivy Bluff.

A huge manhunt focused on an area 20 miles west of Roanoke, Va., where several of the escapees were believed surrounded. The FBI said Charles W. Stewart, one of the desperate ringleaders in the daring breakout, might be in the pocketed group.

Local officers and the FBI, corralled eight of the original 20 in Virginia. Another was taken as he walked along a highway near Rustburg, Va., this morning.

Earlier, four others were captured in Cambridge, Ohio. One was taken Tuesday in North Carolina.

In Raleigh, State Prisons Director W. F. Bailey said his top field assistant, W. M. Lilly, had been ordered to investigate Tuesday's escape from the tough prison. Bailey said Lilly was instructed to "let the chips fall where they may."

Asserts Nation Ready To Defend Friends

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—President Eisenhower today told a worried India that the United States wants most of all controlled disarmament but stands ready to defend its friends against Red China's "alien philosophy and great military might."

The 600-member Indian Parliament erupted 14 times in applause as Eisenhower urged "in the name of humanity" an end to suspicion, aggression and armed force lest the world come to "annihilation and race suicide." Controlled universal disarmament is the need of our time, he said.

"Can we not join in a five-year or a 50-year plan against mistrust and misgiving and fixation on the wrongs of the past?" he asked.

It was the major speech of his 11-nation tour. The President delivered it after a four-hour conference with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in which he was reported to have offered U. S. military aid to the 500,000-man Indian army should Chinese Communist border attacks lead to war with India.

PROTEST OF INDIA

(Even as Eisenhower was speaking, the Indian government announced it had protested to Red China against violation of Indian air space by Chinese Communist aircraft. The formal protest, delivered two days ago and disclosed today, charged that Communist planes from bases in Tibet had been flying over India's northeast frontier.)

The President began the second day of his tumultous four-day visit to officially neutral India with a visit to the Raj Ghat (royal embankment) to lay a wreath and plant a California sapling at the tomb of India's modern emancipator, Mohandas K. Ghandi, who was assassinated in 1948.

'KING OF AMERICA'

Again, hundreds of thousands of Indians cheered "the great king of America" as he rode for the second day through the streets under bright skies, waving his arms in a wide V and smiling broadly.

The smile vanished when he began his formal meeting with Nehru on the problems of India's quarrel with Red China and the issues of disarmament and cold war tensions.

It was a serious Eisenhower who entered the flower-banked hall of Parliament to accept a standing ovation and be introduced by Vice President S. Radhakrishnan as a "symbol of democracy, peace and freedom.

BRINGS ASSURANCE

"I bring to this nation of 400 million assurance from my people that they feel the welfare of America is bound up with the welfare of India," Eisenhower said.

The President plunged immediately into the two issues most deeply felt by India—world disarmament and the threat of aggression. He did not mention Red China nor communism by name, but his meaning was unmistakable.

America wants "not an acre" of territory from other nations, he said. It seeks to control no government.

But the "harsh alarms" from Communist countries has made America remain prepared.

Adult Authority Names Marinite Vice Chairman

C. J. Fitzharris of San Rafael today was named vice chairman of the California Adult Authority, replacing Clinton T. Duffy of San Anselmo, former San Quentin Prison warden who resigned as vice chairman but will continue as a member.

Fitzharris, an associate warden at San Quentin until his appointment to the Adult Authority in 1955 by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, has an extensive background in correctional work.

Before coming to San Quentin, he was an associate warden of classification and treatment at Soledad Prison, where he served seven years. In 1944, Fitzharris, then a senior sociologist, was an original member of San Quentin's guidance center, which processed the majority of Northern California's committments to state penal institutions.

'Lost' Tiburon Pair Safe On Boat In England

Tiburon sailor Emil Lamerdin, 38, of East View avenue and his wife, Pat, 32, turned up safe today in the English harbor of Falmouth aboard the long-lost yacht Edvard Grieg, which wasn't lost at all.

The Lamerdins and four other Californians were "safe, well and happy," reported United Press International. And the 60-ton Norwegian yacht was riding safely at anchor. It had been feared lost in an Atlantic storm.

Lamerdin, who operates a yacht service at 40 Pt. San Pedro road, San Rafael, and Eugene Scott of Newport Beach were sailing the Edvard Grieg to California from Norway, where it was built, with a plan to establish a business here selling Norwegian-built craft.

The builder, Peder Hagen, intended the Edvard Grieg as the first of a series of new style yachts built for Americans. The powered vessel most nearly resembles a fish-

Quentin Escapee May Have Hitched Ride From Marin

Jimmy Kendrick, 29-year-old gunman who escaped from San Quentin Prison Monday, may have hitched a ride from San Rafael to San Francisco yesterday with an unsuspecting San Rafael commuter.

Albert J. McDermott of 217 Laurel place reported to the sheriff's office that he gave a hitchhiker a ride into San Francisco about 6 a.m. yesterday. Last night he got home, looked at a newspaper picture of the escapee, and decided the hitchhiker might have been Kendrick. He called the sheriff, who in turn notified San Quentin officials.

BIG GAIN FOR YEAR

$26 Million Increase Seen In Marin Sales

Taxable retail sales in Marin County for 1959 will total a whopping $157,084,000, with $74,780,000 of that amount spent in San Rafael, according to estimates by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce today based on state Board of Equalization reports.

This means an increase of 26 million dollars in the county, and 12 million dollars in San Rafael, over the 1958 sales, said Richard L. Shirley, chamber manager.

According to records of the state Board of Equalization, the total taxable sales for the county for the first three quarters of 1959 amounted to $112,084,000 and for San Rafael, $52,780,000. Fourth quarter estimates were arrived at by suggesting the same gains for this year as for 1958 over 1957.

These calculations estimate San Rafael's total 1959 taxable retail sales at $74,780,000, or approximately 47.5 per cent of the county's total taxable sales figures.

Larkspur Gets Decorated For Yule After All

Just when everyone had become resigned to a Christmas without street decorations in the business district, lo and behold, they appeared!

Glittering red balls and garlands of silver and red foil were strung across Magnolia avenue yesterday.

It happened just nine days after the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce, because of insufficient funds and poor attendance at meetings, had decided not to decorate the downtown area.

I-J STORY DECISIVE

The catalytic agent was a page one Independent-Journal story of Dec. 1. It reported the chamber's decision under the headline: "Yule Never Know You're in Larkspur."

"After reading that story, a bunch of us decided something had to be done," said Kenneth R. Anderson, owner of the Larkspur Pharmacy.

He and several other businessmen looked over the storm-battered decorations which had adorned the city in past years and decided they could be refurbished.

GOT BEHIND IDEA

"There wasn't time to arrange another meeting," Anderson said. "But most of the merchants got behind the idea and agreed to chip in."

HAVANA (AP)—Frank Austin Young, American fugitive from an army barracks cell at Pinar Del Rio, was arrested today at a Havana hotel.

Hotel officials said Young, whose home is in Miami, was arrested by an army intelligence unit. They said he had registered there yesterday morning under the name of Jack Morton.

Commander Jose Argibay regimental chief of Pinar Del Rio, reported earlier in the day that Young and Sergio Hernandez Reyes, who escaped with him, were presumably in Havana.

Cuba Hills Scoured For Fugitive Yank

PINAR DEL RIO, Cuba (AP)—Hundreds of soldiers and pro-Castro peasants searched mountainous western Cuba today for American fugitive Frank Austin Young.

Young escaped from the Pinar Del Rio army headquarters prison yesterday less than 24 hours after a military tribunal gave him a 30-year sentence for counter-revolutionary activity against Fidel Castro's government.

The 38-year-old flier-of-fortune had boasted he would not serve more than 30 weeks of his sentence.

Sergio Hernandez Reyes, a former Cuban soldier awaiting trial, made the break with the Miamian. They got away by cutting a hole in their jail cell.

The pair presumably made a dash for the mountains in hopes of contacting anti-Castro elements active there.

Police also were reported watching the U. S. Embassy in Havana to prevent any attempt by Young to take refuge there.

It was reported that several soldiers charged with guarding Reyes had been placed under arrest.

FRANK A. YOUNG
Escapes Castro cell

Young, a native of Indianapolis, was among 38 persons tried by a military tribunal for operating in an armed band opposing Castro's regime.

Young's wife, who works in Miami as a waitress to support their three children, said she had no idea he would try to escape.

Nobel Prizes Awarded To 1959 Winners

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—King Gustav VI today awarded Nobel prizes to six men, including four American explorers of uncharted fields of science.

At the same time, a seventh man—British Laborite Philip Noel-Baker—was receiving the 1959 Peace Prize at a ceremony in Oslo, Norway.

The prizes, $42,610 in each category, were awarded to:

Medicine: Dr. Severo Ochoa of New York University and Prof Arthur Kornberg of Stanford University, whose discovery of means of synthesizing nucleic acid shed new light on the basic chemistry of life.

Physics: Prof. Emilio Segre and Owen Chamberlain, both of the University of California, for discovering the anti-proton.

Chemistry: Jaroslav Heyrovsky, the first Czech ever to win a Nobel Prize. Heyrovsky was honored for his 34-year-old discovery of the polarograph method of chemical analysis.

At the Oslo ceremony, Gunnar Jahn of the Norwegian Nobel Committee told an audience including King Olav V that Noel-Baker "for 45 years has dedicated his powers to the service of suffering humanity, whether in time of war or in the intervals between wars."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Jupiter Flight Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Army fired its Jupiter intermediate range missile on a successful 1,500-mile test flight last night.

Back In Harmony

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The four Crosby brothers will put their singing act together again in January, says Lindsay Crosby.

Bing's sons broke up their act in Montreal last week and canceled an engagement tonight at Palm Springs. Lindsay denied they were feuding. He conceded they had a "beef in Canada, but nothing serious."

He said the reason for tonight's cancellation is that Gary, oldest of the four, has a throat ailment.

Big Reno Hotel Sold

RENO (AP)—Gambler Virgil Smith will become sole owner of Reno's Riverside Hotel, Dec. 29 on a purchase price of some 5 million dollars unless he picks up additional investors before then.

Sale of the Riverside Hotel, casino, theater restaurant and bars was announced late yesterday by Roy E. Crummer, president of the Beverly Hills Development Co., the former owner.

The buyer was listed only as Riverside Casino Corp., headed by Smith.

It was not until after the scheduled press conference that it was learned Smith was the sole owner of the purchasing corporation.

Gas Station Quiz

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators questioned more witnesses today about charges that major oil companies used "unfair trade practices" to force service stations to stock their tires, batteries and auto accessories.

There were indications that the House small business subcommittee, headed by Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) might devote the session to the accessories field.

A New Jersey realtor complained at the opening hearing of the inquiry yesterday that he was forced out of the service station business by the "harassment" of Sun Oil Co. which insisted he sell its line of auto accessories.

Radioactivity Cure?

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Three Baltimore doctors have found a way to flush radioactive strontium from the bodies of animals.

Injections of harmless sulfates, common salts of sulfuric acid, do the trick, according to the three researchers at Johns Hopkins medical school.

If the sulfates work the same way in humans, the discovery could help save persons exposed to strontium radioactivity in laboratories, bomb tests or nuclear warfare.

French Actor Dies

Vidal, 40, had appeared in more than 30 French movies. Physicians called to his home about 6 a.m. said that he died of a heart attack.

Four Die In Fire

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Four children, aged 2 to 9, perished last night in a fire which destroyed their home.

Antarctic Fleas Found

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Scientists have found high jumping fleas under rocks in the Antarctic, the first living insects discovered on the South Pole continent.

The insects—called "snow fleas" or "springtails" because of their ability to jump several inches by using their tails—were discovered by Dr. George Meyer under dry rocks at Hallett Station in the Antarctic. The Navy announced the find yesterday.

Race Riots In Fiji

SUVA, Fiji (UPI)—Troops and police battled natives in the streets of this British colonial capital today, trying to restore order after night-long riots. The disorders had racial overtones. There was no immediate report of casualties.

Club-swinging police were unable to cope with the rioters who ran wild in the streets of Suva last night, smashing shop windows, uprooting telephone booths and wrecking soft-drink stands. Troops were called out early today to reinforce the outnumbered civil authorities.

Fire Kills Family Of 5

WEWOKA, Okla. (UPI)—The bodies of a rural Wewoka couple and their three children were found huddled together early today in the burning rubble of their frame home.

The victims were Archie P. Houck, believed in his late 30's, his wife, Edna, about 30, and daughters Jeannie, 12, Jeannette, 8, and Anita, 5.

Firemen said the bodies of the five were huddled in what had been a front bedroom of the six-room frame home. They apparently were trapped by flames.

Highway Use Tax Up

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Controller Alan Cranston reports that California drivers paid $30,582,627 in November for the privilege of driving on the highways.

Cranston said yesterday that the total was 3.32 per cent over the highway users taxes collected in November, 1958.

He added that $20,483,347 of the total went to the state Highway Fund for highway expenditure, $7,268,083 went to counties and $2,831,197 was credited to California cities.

Cranberries Seized

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A shipment of 59 cases of cranberry sauce, traced after an investigation in other cities, was seized here yesterday by the Food and Drug Administration.

The seizure was the first in Baltimore since the federal government issued a warning last month about tainted cranberries.

Storms Enter Midwest

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Scattered showers and snow flurries moved from the Southwest and Pacific Northwest into the fringes of the Midwest today to chip away at the fair weather shining on most of the eastern half of the nation.

Light rains sprinkled the lower Mississippi Valley, Eastern Texas and the deserts of Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico last night.

The Weather Bureau said the showers would spread eastward through Mississippi today and north to southern Illinois, becoming snow flurries as they invade the western plateaus.

10th Anniversary

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Ten years ago today President Chiang Kai-shek fled from the Chinese mainland to Formosa. The President and Mme. Chiang spent the anniversary at their retreat in central Formosa.

Smog Not Foul To Fowl

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Smog is distressing to humans but appears to be great for chickens.

Dr. Earl J. Catcott, a veterinarian from Cincinnati, Ohio, told the third annual air pollution medical research conference yesterday that chickens seem to thrive on air pollution.

He said they lay eggs about 10 days sooner than chicks raised in a chemically-pure atmosphere, they eat more and therefore grow faster than their clean air-breathing counterparts and there seems to be no difference between the fertility and hatchability of eggs laid by the two groups.

GOP Chiefs Map Convention Plans

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Republican National Committee today began a three-day meeting to map plans for the 1960 nominating convention.

National Chairman Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky will preside over the sessions in the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel.

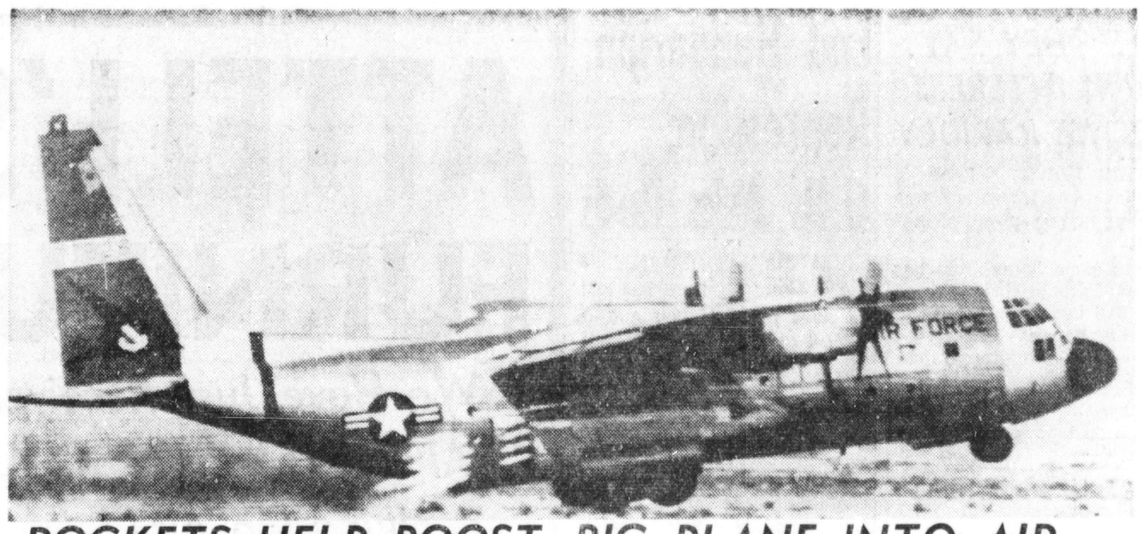
Morton also was to address a luncheon meeting today of the Midwest and Rocky Mountain Republican State Chairmen's Assn., which is meeting simultaneously with the national group.

Headlining today's session were meetings of the committee on arrangements charged with preparing convention plans. Committee Vice Chairman Jaren L. Jones of Utah was to report to the national committee tomorrow on convention plans.

Morton arrived today from Springfield, Ill.,

The Kentucky senator told newsmen last night that he had found in a tour of 37 states that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is "far ahead" of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in lining up support for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Morton said he believed "we might prevail" on Rockefeller to accept the vice presidential nomination on a ticket with Nixon, despite statements by the New York governor that he would do no such thing.



ROCKETS HELP BOOST BIG PLANE INTO AIR

Eight auxiliary rockets boost a giant Air Force C130B Hercules troop and cargo carrier off the ground in three-fourth of its previously required takeoff run at Edwards Air Force Base. The 8,000-pound thrust rockets, which are dropped after use, get the 54-ton (67-ton when fully loaded) plane off the ground after a run of about 2,500 feet instead of 3,200 feet. (UPI Telephoto)

FCC HEARING

Civil Liberties Union Urges Network Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Civil Liberties Union today urged the Federal Communications Commission to ask Congress for authority to regulate radio and television networks.

The commission now has no direct supervision over the networks, although it has indirect powers through its authority to license individual stations which make up the network.

Noting that the networks provide at least 80 per cent of prime evening television programs, the civil liberties union said, "The commission should have the right to regulate networks directly and thereby to apply sanctions where they will do the most good."

Patrick Murphy Malin of New York City, the union's executive director, presented the position at a public hearing at which FCC is re-examing its powers to control program content.

Until the law is changed, Malin's prepared testimony said, the commission should exercise existing powers to make broadcasting outlets provide "the maximum possible range and balance in subject material and treatment" in their over-all programming.

GOP Chiefs Map Convention Plans

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Republican National Committee today began a three-day meeting to map plans for the 1960 nominating convention.

National Chairman Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky will preside over the sessions in the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel.

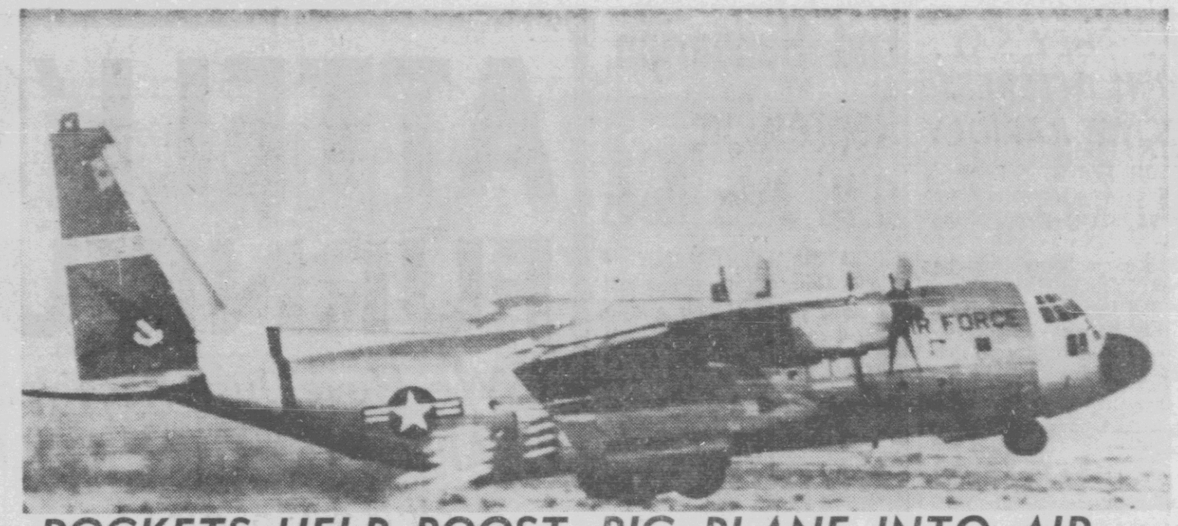
Morton also was to address a luncheon meeting today of the Midwest and Rocky Mountain Republican State Chairmen's Assn., which is meeting simultaneously with the national group.

Headlining today's session were meetings of the committee on arrangements charged with preparing convention plans. Committee Vice Chairman Jaren L. Jones of Utah was to report to the national committee tomorrow on convention plans.

Morton arrived today from Springfield, Ill.,

The Kentucky senator told newsmen last night that he had found in a tour of 37 states that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is "far ahead" of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in lining up support for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Morton said he believed "we might prevail" on Rockefeller to accept the vice presidential nomination on a ticket with Nixon, despite statements by the New York governor that he would do no such thing.



ROCKETS HELP BOOST BIG PLANE INTO AIR

Eight auxiliary rockets boost a giant Air Force C130B Hercules troop and cargo carrier off the ground in three-fourth of its previously required takeoff run at Edwards Air Force Base. The 8,000-pound thrust rockets, which are dropped after use, get the 54-ton (67-ton when fully loaded) plane off the ground after a run of about 2,500 feet instead of 3,200 feet. (UPI Telephoto)

FCC HEARING

Civil Liberties Union Urges Network Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Civil Liberties Union today urged the Federal Communications Commission to ask Congress for authority to regulate radio and television networks.

The commission now has no direct supervision over the networks, although it has indirect powers through its authority to license individual stations which make up the network.

Noting that the networks provide at least 80 per cent of prime evening television programs, the civil liberties union said, "The commission should have the right to regulate networks directly and thereby to apply sanctions where they will do the most good."

Patrick Murphy Malin of New York City, the union's executive director, presented the position at a public hearing at which FCC is re-examing its powers to control program content.

Until the law is changed, Malin's prepared testimony said, the commission should exercise existing powers to make broadcasting outlets provide "the maximum possible range and balance in subject material and treatment" in their over-all programming.

STEEL UNION ASKS RETROACTIVE PACT

Would Make Settlement Terms Cover Period Of Production Under Injunction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union asked the industry today to make strike settlement terms retroactive and to pay before Christmas a cost of living wage increase expected Jan. 1.

An interim agreement to that effect now "would contribute to the collective bargaining climate of the final settlement," president David J. McDonald said in a letter to heads of the various companies.

He made the letter public as union and company negotiators were summoned to another joint afternoon meeting with federal mediators.

There was no immediate comment from industry sources.

McDonald asked that whatever settlement terms are agreed to be made retroactive to Nov. 7, when a Taft-Hartley law injunction sent the men back to work after a 116-day strike.

Contending the men have helped the industry return to quick production, he said "we trust that the industry does not wish to reap the sole benefit of this period of enforced production."

The contract which expired last June 30 provided for cost of living adjustments as of each July 1 and Jan. 1 and McDonald said that under the court order, terms of that contract remain in effect.

The industry meantime turned down a suggestion by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell that outsiders be invited to recommend a solution in the dispute.

The secretary had proposed Monday that the strike issues be put up to a fact-finding board or to the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service for a suggested solution, or to binding arbitration of points on which there was no agreement.

The union agreed to either method of outsider recommendations, but opposed arbitration.

R. Conrad Cooper, head of the steel negotiators, said third party intervention in past steel disputes always has produced "a highly inflationary result."

LIKE THEY SAY, BANK INTEREST GROWS RAPIDLY

FAIR LAWN, N.J. (AP) — Marlene Ann Horwitt, 7, was feeling mighty proud of herself.

She came home from her second grade class, where she had just made her weekly $1 deposit under the school's banking program.

"Dennis," she said to her 10-year-old brother, "How much do I have in the bank now?"

"Wow!" was all Dennis could reply.

The bank manager at the Radburn branch of the First Saving and Loan Assn. of Fair Lawn confirmed it was all a mistake—an error of the posting machine.

Marlene's deposit made her real bank balance $10.50.

No Permits Issued For New Sausalito Building

The Sausalito building inspector issued permits for $52,218 worth of alterations and repairs during November, but no permits for new residences, his records revealed today.

This figure compares with $79,380 for the same month last year.

End Hungarian Repression, U.N. Asks Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United Nations has called once more for an end to acts of repression against anti-Soviet Hungarians and for free elections in Communist North Korea.

The 82-nation General Assembly overwhelmingly approved resolutions yesterday containing the appeals. The Communist bloc voted against both resolutions, which the Reds are sure to disregard as they have similar ones in the past.

The mildly worded resolution on Hngary, approved 53-10 with 17 abstentions, deplored the "continued disregard by the Soviet Union and the present Hungarian regime of the General Assembly's resolutions" adopted after the Soviet army crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

It asked Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, N.N. special representative on Hungary, to continue seeking implementation of the earlier resolutions. These demanded withdrawal of Soviet military forces from Hungary and restoration of political freedom for the Hungarian people.

New Rockefeller Tactics Mapped

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's rooters have come up with a new appeal they hope will offset Vice President Richard M. Nixon's identification with the peace issue.

As it was spelled out by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), the new challenge boils down to the contention that the New York governor is better equipped than the vice president to deal with the Soviet Union's economic threat to the West.

Javits told a news conference yesterday he expects Rockefeller to develop the economic theme in speeches during a midwestern tour beginning Saturday.

If the public reaction is good, Javits indicated this might be a compelling factor in getting Rockefeller into the race against Nixon for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller's supporters regard the economic issue not only as an attractive one but as very nearly foolproof politically.

It is founded on the assumption that the infiltration and military aggression stage of the cold war is over—a condition Javits said he is confident has been attained. It accepts military peace as an accomplished fact and something the voter doesn't have to worry about any more.

This peace, of course, would be credited directly to the efforts of President Eisenhower, thus establishing a link to the administration and its record. Nor would Nixon's part in helping attain the peace be demeaned in any way.

The Rockefeller people would simply be saying in effect: Look, the Republicans have worked hard and brought you out from under the threat of military attack. Eisenhower and Nixon have done a fine job, but now you need a man who—in the words of Javits—has "a special capability" of dealing with an even more serious threat.

Rockefeller would be presented as a business man with special training in international trade and the sort of technical assistance for under-developed countries he has pushed in Latin America with government and private enterprises.

If the Rockefeller backers are right this would have a double-barreled appeal. It would be attractive to business men and conservatives. It also would have the forward looking aspects they think would hearten liberals.

If the public reaction is good, Javits indicated this might be a compelling factor in getting Rockefeller into the race against Nixon for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller's supporters regard the economic issue not only as an attractive one but as very nearly foolproof politically.

It is founded on the assumption that the infiltration and military aggression stage of the cold war is over—a condition Javits said he is confident has been attained. It accepts military peace as an accomplished fact and something the voter doesn't have to worry about any more.

This peace, of course, would be credited directly to the efforts of President Eisenhower, thus establishing a link to the administration and its record. Nor would Nixon's part in helping attain the peace be demeaned in any way.

The Rockefeller people would simply be saying in effect: Look, the Republicans have worked hard and brought you out from under the threat of military attack. Eisenhower and Nixon have done a fine job, but now you need a man who—in the words of Javits—has "a special capability" of dealing with an even more serious threat.

Rockefeller would be presented as a business man with special training in international trade and the sort of technical assistance for under-developed countries he has pushed in Latin America with government and private enterprises.

If the Rockefeller backers are right this would have a double-barreled appeal. It would be attractive to business men and conservatives. It also would have the forward looking aspects they think would hearten liberals.

TOMMY CAN YELL AGAIN—Tommy Thompson, 11, let go with a loud yell and nurse Betty Kidd playfully pretended the noise was too much for her ears as the boy was released from the Chicago Children's Memorial Hospital yesterday. Tommy was left voiceless by the explosion of a live grenade with which he and some chums were playing in his hometown of Beach Grove, Ind. Doctors rebuilt his larynx and now, after four months of silence, Tommy can talk again. It's a Christmas miracle, his parents say. (AP Wirephoto)

CHRISTMAS MIRACLE

Boy With Shattered Voicebox Talks Again

BEACH GROVE, Ind. (UPI) — Tommy Thompson talked and yelled and shouted all through his sixth grade class today and no one could get enough of it.

"It's a miracle, that's what it is," Tommy's father, Paul, said.

"It's Christmas," Tommy's mother, Vivian, said.

Five months ago, doctors said Tommy never would speak again. Shrapnel from an exploding grenade had pierced his voice box.

Today, for the first time, Tommy, 11, was back in school. Once again he could talk. His voice was normal, though somewhat deeper—"much like an older person's," his mother said.

"Tommy's grown up, that's all," Mrs. Thompson said. "He's just grown up. In so many ways."

Tommy's recovery was the product of five months of surgery. It all started in July when Tommy and six boy friends were playing with a discarded hand grenade. The grenade went off, killing two of the youngsters. Shrapnel fractured Tommy's larynx.

Local doctors first fought for Tommy's life. Then they talked of Tommy's voice. They said there was very little hope Tommy ever would speak again.

Then began the series of operations at Chicago's Children's Memorial Hospital, noted for its work in bronchology. A special mold and silver tube were inserted in Tommy's throat to protect the injured tissue and to help his breathing.

For five months, Tommy lived with that tube. He commuted between his home, in a suburb of Indianapolis, Ind., and Chicago, 200 miles away. At home Tommy had his school teacher come over after hours for tutoring. Tommy learned Morse code and the Thompsons learned to read lips.

"Somehow we managed," Mrs. Thompson said. "We learned we had to manage."

Then, the other day, doctors felt it was time to remove the apparatus.

"Say something, son," the doctor said.

"What?" Tommy asked. He had spoken.

"The doctors have performed a miracle," Thompson said. Then he and Tommy went home.

"Tommy says he's been given a second chance to live," Mrs. Thompson said. "He's normally a quiet boy. He just sits at home with us now, and every now and then says—'This is wonderful, mom.' You know what? He says it out loud. It must be Christmas."

New State School To Open Jan. 4

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state's newest institution for youthful offenders — a Youth Training School south of Ontario — will open Jan. 4, the California Youth Authority has announced.

The school, an intermediate security institution for young men 17 to 22, has been planned for offenders too mature for other Youth Authority facilities but too immature for prisons.

It will have an initial capacity of 400. Eventually, it will house 1,200 and become the CYA's largest institution.

Water Wheel

GRESHAM, Wis. (AP) — The electricity for George Huebner's modern ranch home is provided by one of the few working water wheels left in the Midwest.

Scott, traced by reporters to the harbormaster's office in Falmouth, inquired: "What's all the fuss? Nobody's been worried about us."

But alarm had been voiced over the yacht's safety. The yacht had presumably headed for Lisbon from Southhampton, England, into the fury of Atlantic storms.

Scott said he put up a while in Cowes on the Isle of Wight, then headed for Port Hamble, near Southampton.

Scott told reporters they left Hamble last Sunday, heading for Lisbon, but on that day the worst gale of all began. He put in to Falmouth to ride out the storm and has been there ever since.

"I can't tell at the moment when we'll move on," he said.

Also on board are Scott's wife and two daughters.

'Gator Lynching Solved

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The mystery of the alligator lynching at William Land Park Zoo has been solved, the FBI says.

Agents said two youths, trying to steal the big reptile as a present for a girl friend, left the alligator hanging when they were frightened by a noise. They had slipped a noose around the neck of the 6-foot, 90-pound alligator and were hauling it up a fence.

One of the youth, David F. Greenleaf, 20, was arrested in Deming, N. M., yesterday on a federal car theft charge. With him was Frances Slye, 16, wife of the friend who took part in the incident.

Property Tax Limit Proposed

Eighty persons were reported at the San Rafael High School auditorium Tuesday night to hear P. J. Rowland of San Anselmo, president of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn., describe a proposal to limit county revenues raised by property tax.

"Property now pays all," said Rowland. "The supervisors should be prohibited from raising more than 25 per cent gross tax levy from property, getting the rest by sales or other special taxes. That would be fairer and would follow the state constitution—what's legal for the state is legal for the county."

Polio Victim Moved To S. F. Hospital

A 53-year-old San Anselmo woman, who has become the first known victim of paralytic polio in Marin County this year, was transferred today from Marin General Hospital to Children's Hospital in San Francisco.

Attendants there said they were unable to report on the woman's condition until after conferring with her physician, who was not immediately available.

It is the fourth case of polio reported this year to the Marin County Health Department, but the previous cases were of the non-paralytic type.

Marin Woman Honored By Radio Station

Mrs. J. A. Wruburton of 24 Glenaire drive, San Rafael, was honored by Oakland radio station KABL yesterday as its "First Lady of the Day."

Mrs. Wruburton, a former nurse and now a member of the San Rafael General Hospital Women's Auxiliary, has donated more than 500 hours of her time at the hospital during the past 15 months. She serves as volunteer secretary to Mrs. Patricia Leonard, director of nurses.

Mrs. Wruburton also is chairman of the auxiliary's decorations committee, now in charge of decorating the hospital for the Christmas season.

State Fund Cut Eyed

At last night's meeting of the San Quentin school board in the school house, members decided to investigate why the state school fund apportionment had been cut with enrollment of 53 students instead of 50, said Bruce L. Russell Jr., trustee representative.

Dixie Districts's New School On Schedule

The new 10-classroom intermediate school in the Dixie School District is expected to be completed by Jan. 20 in accordance with contract terms, thus enabling a general reshuffle of pupils throughout the district, the district's board of trustees learned last night.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis reported the contractor, T. H. Rosewall of Watsonville, foresees no delay in the completion and furniture can be moved into the new school starting about Jan. 23.

Seventh and eighth grade pupils now attending Hoffman School will be moved into the new classrooms, making way at Hoffman for many sixth graders now at Silveira School, which in turn will make it possible to transfer first through third grade pupils from rented quarters off Del Ganado road.

After hearing the superintendent report the district can expect about 100 new pupils within 90 days, trustees authorized Willis to hire two new teachers.

Completion of several new subdivisions will bring the pupil increase, said Willis.

Trustees last night agreed the district should conduct summer school for the third straight year next summer.

A teachers' workshop, last year conducted jointly with Novato and San Jose districts, should be carried out again next summer if possible, trustees agreed.

Trustees decided to meet at 7:40 p.m. next Wednesday at Hoffman School, instead of the regular Dec. 23 meeting at the administration office. The trustees will interrupt their meeting for about 45 minutes to attend a Christmas program at Hoffman School.

Problems Of Aged Termed National Emergency As Solons Open Hearing

DETROIT (UPI)—A two-day hearing on the problems of the aged opened today before a U. S. Senate sub-committee with Mayor Louis C. Miriani the first to testify.

Sen. Patrick McNamara (D-Mich.), head of the sub-committee, issued a 10-point "declaration of rights" on the eve of the hearing last night in which he called for more aid to older citizens.

"I am more convinced than ever that this is a national emergency," said McNamara, who has conducted hearings in seven cities since the investigations began last June.

"Older Americans have a right to retirement income large enough to live as self-respecting human beings."

He said he found three out of five of the country's 16 million persons over 65 living on annual incomes of less than $1,000.

McNamara urged higher social security payments and a health and hospitalization plan for those in retirement years. Other points in his recommended program included: Better housing; homelike institutional care; the right to participate in meaningful activities at the community level; coordinated community social services, and rights to "freedom, independence and initiative."

Also in Detroit yesterday, a group of elderly persons met at Wayne State University to discuss mutual problems before testifying before the Senate group.

Discussing how to live on a very limited income, the senior citizens sometimes joked about the problems. One man suggested "adding another cup of water to the soup."

HELICOPTER WHIRLS TO RECORD HEIGHTS

Air Force crash-rescue helicopter is shown as it took off yesterday from the plant of its manufacturer, Kaman Aircraft, in Bloomfield, Conn., for an attempt at an altitude record for 'copters of its class. The Kaman H43B succeeded, climbing to 30,000 feet, thus besting the old record of 21,000 feet set by a Russian whirlybird. (UPI Telephoto)

Problems Of Aged Termed National Emergency As Solons Open Hearing

DETROIT (UPI)—A two-day hearing on the problems of the aged opened today before a U. S. Senate sub-committee with Mayor Louis C. Miriani the first to testify.

Sen. Patrick McNamara (D-Mich.), head of the sub-committee, issued a 10-point "declaration of rights" on the eve of the hearing last night in which he called for more aid to older citizens.

"I am more convinced than ever that this is a national emergency," said McNamara, who has conducted hearings in seven cities since the investigations began last June.

"Older Americans have a right to retirement income large enough to live as self-respecting human beings."

He said he found three out of five of the country's 16 million persons over 65 living on annual incomes of less than $1,000.

McNamara urged higher social security payments and a health and hospitalization plan for those in retirement years. Other points in his recommended program included: Better housing; homelike institutional care; the right to participate in meaningful activities at the community level; coordinated community social services, and rights to "freedom, independence and initiative."

Also in Detroit yesterday, a group of elderly persons met at Wayne State University to discuss mutual problems before testifying before the Senate group.

Discussing how to live on a very limited income, the senior citizens sometimes joked about the problems. One man suggested "adding another cup of water to the soup."

Diminishing Storm Leaves Wake Of Shattered Ships

LONDON (AP)—Europe's worst storm in 23 years was blowing itself out today, leaving shattered ships and 109 dead in its wake.

But coastguardsmen, weary after a five-day battle, warned the tempest might still have a deadly sting in its tail.

The toll in lives and shipping was the heaviest since the great storm of February, 1936, in which more than 200 died.

The 44-ton Dutch freighter Flamingo went down after a collision with the 3,128-ton German freighter Brunswick. All members of the Dutch crew were rescued.

In all, a half dozen vessels have gone down.

CREW TAKEN OFF

A flooded engineroom forced abandonment of the British trawler Janet Helen in the North Sea. Its crew was taken off by another British fishing vessel.

In the Baltic, the Finnish vessel Borneo, 348 tons, reported it was drifting with a 25-degree list. It called urgently for a tug.

BOATS MISSING

Three other Danish fishing boats with a total of at least 12 men aboard also were missing, but officials said possibly they had lost their radio antennas and could not report in. They were the Nilan, 50 tons; Jytte, 47 tons, and Lyngvig, 46 tons. Two Danish salvage vessels and planes of the Danish and British air forces were looking for them.

In the Baltic, rescue ships put out to aid the crippled Swedish motorship Birgitta. That 850-ton craft, with nine men aboard, had engine and propeller trouble, but reported it was in no immediate danger.

SEARCH ABANDONED

The air-sea hunt for crewmen of the Norwegian freighter Elfrida and the German ship Merkur was abandoned when darkness closed in last night. All 20 men aboard the Elfrida and the seven who manned the Merkur were assumed lost.

The 1,719-ton Norweigian vessel turned turtle off the south coast of Norway yesterday. The Merkur, 995 tons, was found wallowing and abandoned in the same general area by the British trawler Benella.

Army To Pull Troops Out Of Iceland

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced today that 1,200 American Army troops stationed in Iceland will be withdrawn during the first six months of next year.

Approximately 4,000 Air Force and Navy personnel will remain in Iceland.

Airborne troops will be held ready in the United States to reach Iceland in a matter of hours if necessary, the Army said, but no Army troops will remain in Iceland.

The Army's assignment of guarding military installations will be taken over by the Air Force and Navy.

The Army denied that the move constitutes a withdrawal of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces. It pointed out that U.S. troops were stationed in Iceland under a separate 1951 agreement with the Icelandic government.

However, the NATO council as well as the Iceland government has been advised of the withdrawal.

WON'T PREVENT STROKES

Misleading Claims On Fats, Oils Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration advised the public today not to believe any claims that use of salad oils, shortenings or oleomargarine would prevent heart attacks or strokes.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick warned that the government considers any such health claims by sellers of such "unsaturated fats and oils" as violations of the federal misbranding laws. It said food experts felt the only result of eating more of the products would be increased weight.

The agency said "addition of unsaturated fats and oils to the otherwise unchanged ordinary diet will not reduce blood cholesterol and prevent heart attacks and strokes."

"Representations to the public that salad oils, shortening, oleomargarine and similar products have value for these purposes are false and misleading," the FDA announcement said.

It dealt with the subject in a statement of law-enforcement policy, which said, in part:

"The role of cholesterol in heart and artery diseases has not been established. A casual relationship between blood cholesterol levels and these diseases has not been proved. The advisability of making extensive changes in the nature of the dietary fat intake of the people of this country has not been demonstrated."

Cholesteral is a substance manufactured in the body. It also is present in animal fats and oils such as butter, lard, bacon and meat fats.

But the FDA said "The blood level of cholesterol is controlled largely by synthesis in the body and is affected very little by the amount present in our foods."

Solons Charge V.A. Drugs Overpriced

SOLONS CHARGE 236-2 Pg 11

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators charged today that the Veterans Administration paid $136,000 for some "wonder drug" tablets which could have been bought under competitive bidding for about $38,000.

The Senate Anti-Trust Subcommittee said the V.A. negotiated the purchase in February, 1958, from Merck and Co., a big pharmaceutical company, at the rate of $136 for 1,000-tablet bottles.

According to the subcommittee, the V.A., a month later, bought the same amount on a low bid basis for $38.50 a bottle. As a bidder, Merck dropped its price from $136 to $95 but still was too high, the subcommittee said. It later came down to $65.

At this time, investigators said, Merck was selling the drug Prednisone, used in arthritis treatment, to druggists for $170. The price to consumers was $283.

John T. Connor, president of the company, was asked how Merck could offer the drug to the V.A. for $65 and still defend its $170 price to druggists as reasonable.

Connor replied that competitive conditions for government business were a good deal different from those in the retail pharmacy trade. For instance, he said, the government buys in large quantities and has its own testing facilities.

But subcommittee chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said that in his opinion this did not explain such a wide price variance.

"Why can't you give the public a little break?" he asked.

He said Connor's arguments were "not very persuasive."

Later, the subcommittee planned to inquire into the extent that the use of "detail men"—the drug industry's version of the traveling salesman [illegible] drug sales.

U.S. Will Ask Allies Share More Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said today the United States will ask its allies at the NATO council meeting next week to take on a larger share of the over-all burden of defending the West.

He said the United States will carry out in full its share of the commitments, but believes that the growing strength of Western European nations will enable them to take on a bigger share of the cost.

Herter expressed the views at a news conference two days before flying with other cabinet officials to Paris for the NATO council of ministers meeting which begins Tuesday.

He declined to say what specific areas would be involved in the forthcoming discussions on burden-sharing. He said he doubts whether it will come in terms of specific dollar-and-cent proposals.

But Herter cited as an example that may or may not come up for discussion a change in the division of cost for the multi-billion-dollar system of communications and logistics in the NATO defense system.

Three Marinites Become Citizens

A woman and two children from Mill Valley were among the 110 persons sworn in as new citizens by Judge F. Goodman in San Francisco this week.

Sofia Zzubah of 33 Pine Hibll road and young Karen Lee and Stephen Briscoe, children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Briscoe of 243 East Blithedale avenue listened as Judge Goodman welcomed them and told them to fight for American ideals all of their lives.

Judge Goodman spoke on the adherence "to the principles of the Constitution."

"The people who first came to this country came for the same reason as you did," the Judge continued. "They were dissatisfied with the form of government in their own countries. Our government is based on those governed."

66 Measles Cases Top Disease List

Mill Valley was the hardest hit, with 23 cases reported. Belvedere was next with 20, and Tiburon third with 13.

Fifteen cases of mumps also broke out in the county last week. The heaviest concentration of the disease was reported in San Anselmo, where the tally was nine stricken.

Also reported throughout the county were: Eight cases of streptococcus infestion; seven cases of gonorrhea; one case of salmonella and one case of mumps meningo-encephalitis.

SO SANTA LAUGHED ALL THE WAY TO JAILHOUSE

ROOSEVELT, N. Y. (UPI)—"Ho, ho, ho! Hah-hah, hah-hah, hah-hah-hah!"

It was a deep throaty chuckle and a rolling laugh from the toes and it couldn't be anyone but Santa Claus.

But what was he up to at 1:30 a.m., three weeks and a day before Christmas?

Ssh! said Munck, you'll wake the children ahead of time.

"Hah-hah, hah-hah, hah-hah-hah-hah!" replied Santa, heartily.

"Gee," said Munck, "I hate to do this." He bundled Santa politely into the patrol car, which shook a little while he laughed, and took him off to the station house.

There Santa identified himself as Edward T. Woods, 69, a maintenance worker, and was booked for disorderly conduct.

Airman Pays Fine For Drunk Driving

Hamer Leslie Black, 29, of 12th Airways and Air Communication Service, Hamilton Air Force Base, paid $200 fine for his first drunken driving offense Monday.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Robinhood drive in Glenwood on Nov. 29. Black must remain on probation for nine months.

Marinites On Board Of New Corporation

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced the Charles G. Spongberg Lumber and Supply Co., Inc., of San Francisco, has filed articles of incorporation with his office, to be capitalized at $25,000 in $10 par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Charles G. and Gloria A. Spongberg, 39 Arguello Circle, San Rafael, and E. Warren McGuire, 374 Oak Manor drive, Fairfax.

New Hub Aide Asks Job Delay

Douglas Flautt of Sanger has asked a few days' delay before taking over the job of San Anselmo city administrator.

The San Anselmo City Council on Tuesday night gave the job to Flautt effective next Tuesday.

City Clerk Anita Gannon said that when she notifed the former Sanger city manager by telephone yesterday, he said he would be on hand next Tuesday if the council insisted, but would like to have until the following Monday to straighten up affairs in the Fresno area.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith and Councilman William Franchini have informally approved the few days' delay, said Mrs. Gannon.

Solons Charge V.A. Drugs Overpriced

SOLONS CHARGE 236-2 Pg 11

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators charged today that the Veterans Administration paid $136,000 for some "wonder drug" tablets which could have been bought under competitive bidding for about $38,000.

The Senate Anti-Trust Subcommittee said the V.A. negotiated the purchase in February, 1958, from Merck and Co., a big pharmaceutical company, at the rate of $136 for 1,000-tablet bottles.

According to the subcommittee, the V.A., a month later, bought the same amount on a low bid basis for $38.50 a bottle. As a bidder, Merck dropped its price from $136 to $95 but still was too high, the subcommittee said. It later came down to $65.

At this time, investigators said, Merck was selling the drug Prednisone, used in arthritis treatment, to druggists for $170. The price to consumers was $283.

John T. Connor, president of the company, was asked how Merck could offer the drug to the V.A. for $65 and still defend its $170 price to druggists as reasonable.

Connor replied that competitive conditions for government business were a good deal different from those in the retail pharmacy trade. For instance, he said, the government buys in large quantities and has its own testing facilities.

But subcommittee chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said that in his opinion this did not explain such a wide price variance.

"Why can't you give the public a little break?" he asked.

He said Connor's arguments were "not very persuasive."

Later, the subcommittee planned to inquire into the extent that the use of "detail men"—the drug industry's version of the traveling salesman [illegible] drug sales.

U.S. Will Ask Allies Share More Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said today the United States will ask its allies at the NATO council meeting next week to take on a larger share of the over-all burden of defending the West.

He said the United States will carry out in full its share of the commitments, but believes that the growing strength of Western European nations will enable them to take on a bigger share of the cost.

Herter expressed the views at a news conference two days before flying with other cabinet officials to Paris for the NATO council of ministers meeting which begins Tuesday.

He declined to say what specific areas would be involved in the forthcoming discussions on burden-sharing. He said he doubts whether it will come in terms of specific dollar-and-cent proposals.

But Herter cited as an example that may or may not come up for discussion a change in the division of cost for the multi-billion-dollar system of communications and logistics in the NATO defense system.

Three Marinites Become Citizens

A woman and two children from Mill Valley were among the 110 persons sworn in as new citizens by Judge F. Goodman in San Francisco this week.

Sofia Zzubah of 33 Pine Hibll road and young Karen Lee and Stephen Briscoe, children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Briscoe of 243 East Blithedale avenue listened as Judge Goodman welcomed them and told them to fight for American ideals all of their lives.

Judge Goodman spoke on the adherence "to the principles of the Constitution."

"The people who first came to this country came for the same reason as you did," the Judge continued. "They were dissatisfied with the form of government in their own countries. Our government is based on those governed."

SO SANTA LAUGHED ALL THE WAY TO JAILHOUSE

ROOSEVELT, N. Y. (UPI)—"Ho, ho, ho! Hah-hah, hah-hah, hah-hah-hah!"

It was a deep throaty chuckle and a rolling laugh from the toes and it couldn't be anyone but Santa Claus.

But what was he up to at 1:30 a.m., three weeks and a day before Christmas?

Ssh! said Munck, you'll wake the children ahead of time.

"Hah-hah, hah-hah, hah-hah-hah-hah!" replied Santa, heartily.

"Gee," said Munck, "I hate to do this." He bundled Santa politely into the patrol car, which shook a little while he laughed, and took him off to the station house.

There Santa identified himself as Edward T. Woods, 69, a maintenance worker, and was booked for disorderly conduct.

Airman Pays Fine For Drunk Driving

New Hub Aide Asks Job Delay

Douglas Flautt of Sanger has asked a few days' delay before taking over the job of San Anselmo city administrator.

The San Anselmo City Council on Tuesday night gave the job to Flautt effective next Tuesday.

City Clerk Anita Gannon said that when she notifed the former Sanger city manager by telephone yesterday, he said he would be on hand next Tuesday if the council insisted, but would like to have until the following Monday to straighten up affairs in the Fresno area.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith and Councilman William Franchini have informally approved the few days' delay, said Mrs. Gannon.

Teacher Decries Grammar Rules

Most of today's teen-agers would probably agree with Dorothy Petitt, who, before a small audience last night at Novato High School, said the "man made" rules of grammar only serve to discourage young students.

Speaking under auspices of the Novato Advisory Council for Education, the assistant professor of English at San Francisco State College maintained that it is far more important for students to "learn to be human beings" than to conjugate a verb.

"It is better that the child hears proper English than to be constantly drilled in the formal rules and regulations of English as such," the attractive, dark-haired professor said.

She also said that today's teachers are too overburdened with class loads to be able properly to read and grade all the written words which come across their desks.

The only answer to the problem, she said, is more money for more teachers so that no high school instructor is responsible for more than 100 students.

Warning that all children are not capable of appreciating "heavy literature," Miss Petitt urged varying degrees of reading material for the varying degrees of ability.

"Only a certain percentage of students are capable of appreciating the greatest examples of our literary heritage," she said. "Forcing the classics on those who cannot understand them only serves to discourage and antagonize these students."

A substitute for Shakespeare's works, she suggested might be such a book as "The Wonderful Winter" by Marchette Shute, the story of a young boy in Shakespeare's time, or "The Innocent Wayfarer" by the same author, a book set in the time of Chaucer.

Such books, she maintained, might serve to whet the student's appetite to learn more about the writers of those periods.

Dismissing parsing, conjugation and diagramming as unnecessary exercises, Miss Petitt described a noun as "a part of speech which, except in certain cases, forms its plural by adding 's.'"

Writing, writing and more writing is the best way for a child to learn to think, she said.

"They must learn that it is they who are responsible for what they write," she declared.

Novato Views On Freeway Plan Sought

A poll of opinion of members of the Novato Chamber of Commerce on the proposed freeway through Novato was ordered by the chamber's board of directors at a meeting today at the chamber office in the Patio.

A summary of the state's proposals on the freeway will be sent all chamber members and their opinions will be asked, according to secretary-manager Robert Merritt.

The board also sent a formal request to the Marin County Board of Supervisors asking that action on the freeway be deferred until after the Jan. 12 election which will decide on Novato's incorporation.

The chamber board meeting, scheduled for tonight, was held this morning so as not to conflict with the "candidates' night" set for tonight at 8 o'clock at Marion School.

Speaking tonight at the second of the candidates' public appearances will be candidates Charles S. Adkins, William Loewen, Robert J. Mautner and F. J. Picchi.

School Plans Yule Musical Program

Reservations may be made by calling the Holy Innocents' parish office.

San Franciscan Draws Fine For Drunk Driving

Long Service To Bolinas Club To End

There'll be a trace of sadness mixed with the gaiety at the Bolinas Beach Improvement Club's Christmas party Saturday for Frank A. Fuller, the club's president.

For Fuller, who has been president of the club for four years and was vice president for two years before that, will be bidding farewell to club activity.

Fuller announced today he is stepping out of the improvement club at the end of this year to devote all his spare time to the Bolinas Beach Utility District, of which he is a director. The Christmas party, at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Mesa Clubhouse, will be this year's last activity for the improvement club.

Fuller, a real estate man, has resided 12 years in Bolinas since returning there after a career which included much travel in show business. He lived there as a boy, too, before the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

The utility district is in process of replacing its old pipe lines with new four-inch pipes. Nearly a mile of new pipe has been laid this year, Fuller said.

Bolinas, Stinson School Boards Eye More Land

The combined boards of trustees of the Stinson Beach and Bolinas school districts last night discussed at length the possibility of acquiring more land and expanding the school systems in case of future development of the Shoreline Highway.

Redevelopment and realignment of the highway is among long-range plans of the state. The trustees feel an improved road system will bring an increase in population.

Bolinas clerk Arthur E. Carpenter reported the boards listened to Dan Bushnell of Bay Group Associates, an architectural firm, on what services the firm could supply if future site development is planned.

The boards also:

1. Approved the use of the school bus to take children to San Rafael three Saturdays next spring for the Music Minors programs sponsored by the Symphony Guild of Marin.

2. Discussed the possibility of having the Peregrin Players of Vallejo put on plays at the school next spring.

The combined boards of trustees of the Stinson Beach and Bolinas school districts last night discussed at length the possibility of acquiring more land and expanding the school systems in case of future development of the Shoreline Highway.

Redevelopment and realignment of the highway is among long-range plans of the state. The trustees feel an improved road system will bring an increase in population.

Bolinas clerk Arthur E. Carpenter reported the boards listened to Dan Bushnell of Bay Group Associates, an architectural firm, on what services the firm could supply if future site development is planned.

The boards also:

1. Approved the use of the school bus to take children to San Rafael three Saturdays next spring for the Music Minors programs sponsored by the Symphony Guild of Marin.

2. Discussed the possibility of having the Peregrin Players of Vallejo put on plays at the school next spring.

OLD TRESTLE VANISHING

Piece by piece, the old East Blithedale avenue highway trestle in Mill Valley is vanishing. The City of Mill Valley is tearing it down as the result of a complicated agreement in which it was allowed to cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks a few yards away at grade. The bridge originally was part of the state road system, then was turned over to the county and then to the city. (Independent-Journal photo)

Unified School Districts Radio Show Subject

The master plan for Marin school districts was discussed by Mrs. Betty Wallace, chairman of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization, and E. L. Blackmore, administrative assistant of the county schools office, on radio station KTIM's "County Schools Reporter" yesterday.

A committee from the county must prepare and submit to the state Board of Education an educational program for kindergarten through grade 12 by Sept. 15, 1963. Consideration must also be given to a possible program for the 13th and 14th grades, reported Blackmore.

The plan must include reorganization to constitute intermediate steps to the establishment of school districts to operate elementary and high school grades.

Mrs. Wallace pointed out the need for closer coordination of elementary and high school educational programs. A unified school district could bring this about, she said.

When school districts were initially formed, only 12 youngsters were needed to comprise a district and high school was a privilege rather than a requirement, Mrs. Wallace related.

She said those opposing unified school districts are afraid of the development of a "machine that turns out rubber stamp school children."

She also pointed out that the geographical factors of Marin tended to keep communities apart and worked against district unification.

Mrs. Wallace closed her discussion on the note that educational benefits must be uppermost in the minds of the committee.

Dr. Virgil S. Hollis, program moderator, announced the next broadcast of "Marin County School Reporter" will be aired Jan. 13 at 1:30 p.m.

Two of the questions which may be discussed then are:

1. What schools have an ungraded situation? Is this best?

2. Why aren't the bright children in our classes given enough work?

Listeners may submit questions to Bill Thompson, program host, in care of KTIM.

Mains For Subdivision Topic At Water Meet

Discussion of installation of water mains in the Latipac-Perino Glenwood subdivision was the principal issue at last evening's Marin Municipal Water District board meeting.

The agreement was returned to company representatives and attorneys for further study.

A Marin Stables of Fairfax request for a one-year water lease agreement was approved, reported B. J. Brusatori, secretary.

Juanita Fined For Antics At Tavern In Mill Valley

Juanita Musson of Sausalito, who unzipped a woman's dress and tore the shirt of the manager of Old Mill Tavern in Mill Valley last month, must pay a $50 fine and behave during a six-month probationary period.

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court sentenced the well-known operator of Juanita's Galley yesterday for being drunk at at the Old Mill on Nov. 13.

She appealed to the judge for installment payment of the $50 fine. She said she is hard-pressed financially at this time because she has to meet taxes. The judge ordered her to pay $10 every two weeks.

Immediately after the sentencing, she turned to Mill Valley City Atty. Thomas Nelson who prosecuted her. "No hard feelings, Tom," she smiled.

"How does she feel about the sentence?" a reporter asked. "Well," she bubbled happily, "I'm not in jail, sweetheart." And she tripped out of the courthouse as gaily as if she "had the world by the tail on a downhill pull."

After the sentencing, Juanita and her attorney, Harry Wainwright, filed a damage complaint for $75,000 in Marin Superior Court against Berick. She alleges Berick beat and pummeled her without cause or provocation. Juanita contends she suffered a brain concussion, impaired eyesight and bruises.

Ex-Marinite Spots Vast Ore Deposit

Vincent Perry, a geologist with Anaconda Copper Co. and former Marin County resident, spotted the site of a new U. S. mining project in El Salvador, Chile, and decided it was one of the most valuable spots on earth.

The company backed his judgment, and the result is the El Salvador copper mine, operated by the Andes Copper Mining Co., a subsidiary of Anaconda. It is expected to produce $66,000,000 worth of copper in 1960 for the world market.

Perry was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the University of California.

Lost Boy Walks Home As Big Hunt Readied

You'll never convince Corte Madera police that today's youngsters aren't as sturdy as kids used to be—not after last night.

Shortly after 9 p.m., Chief Frank L. Nelson received a frantic phone call from a man whose 7-year-old son had been missing for an hour.

The caller was R. P. Lescohier of 249 Corte Madera avenue, Mill Valley. Young Tommy, he reported, had vanished from the Toy World store during a Christmas shopping trip to Corte Madera Center with his father and sister.

Police searched the 20-acre shopping center, but Tommy was nowhere to be found. Inspector Harold Hockett and the worried father prowled the Corte Madera hills in a police car. No Tommy.

Fearing for the boy's safety, Nelson issued a countywide bulletin. He was about to summon the town's volunteer firemen for an all-out search when his phone rang again at 10:15.

It was Tommy's mother, reporting he had just arrived home after truding at least three miles to his home via Highway 101.

STINGERS

The blood showed an alcohol content of .184 — well above the .150 which courts consider the borderline beyond which the test shows drunkenness.

But, argued defense attorney Andreas, Foley ate a big late supper at the Glad Hand. Then he had four fast stingers (two shots of creme de menthe) at the No-Name Bar. He left there just before midnight.

And the stingers hadn't had time to absorb into his system yet, claimed the attorney. He might have been drunk at 1 a.m. but he was cold sober at midnight.

The argument proved convincing. Hence the guinea pigs.

Dr. John Manwaring, pathologist for the county medical department, found five men who were willing to eat and drink "on the county" for test purposes.

After filling up on food at the Glad Hand, they went to the No-Name Bar and started drinking stingers. Dr. Manwaring hovered close by, needle in hand. At regular intervals he took blood samples.

Yesterday, he told the jury that his experiment, and a similar one by another doctor, showed that if Foley had a blood alcohol content of .184 at 1 a.m., it was about .170 at midnight.

However, said Dr. Manwaring, four stingers wouldn't produce that much alcohol in the blood. He figured Foley had more. Maybe about 10.

Attorney Andreas poopoohed the whole proceeding. You can't measure intoxication by some arbitrary mathematical procedure, he contended. One man's binge is another's eye-opener.

Highway Patrolman Charles Woodworth, who investigated the accident, testified Foley's breath smelled of drink when he was found unconscious. Dr. Rex Whitworth, San Francisco pediatrician who witnessed Foley's fall, testified he appeared to be speeding and driving his scooter erratically.

Attorneys Weissich and Andreas went into their final arguments today. The jurors listened, presumably with baited breath. Not nearly so baited as the breath of those five guinea pigs, though.

PROTEST

Among written protests read at the meeting were those of Robert G. Anderson and Dr. Thomas B. Wiper. Both of these men were identified in a Marin News advertisement as members of the Citizens for the Protection of the Sausalito Waterfront. Mrs. Sisson said neither man was present last night. The advertisement on which their names appeared urged "all interested in preserving this marvelous view" to attend the meeting.

Both letters asked that the open waterfront be preserved, and any effort to change it be resisted.

Also received was a letter from the Sausalito Citizens Council urging unfavorable consideration of the application on grounds the apartments would create traffic congestion, and that there is not enough off-street parking.

Opposition also was registered by Attorney Richard Gladstein for Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford), proprietor of the Valhalla restaurant and bar. Miss Stanford was present but did not speak. She opposed a similar plan about two years ago on the basis it would cut off the view from her place of business.

Sidney Rudy, an attorney speaking for Walter Benson of Sausalito, president of Views Land Co., spoke in favor of the plan. Owners of the property have a reasonable right to develop it because it is zoned for a use that includes apartments, he contended.

Mrs. Sisson said she did not know whether the planners will reach a decision on the matter at the Jan. 13 meeting.

Sausalito Boy Hurt In School Shop Accident

Dennis Coleman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coleman of 417 Turney street, Sausalito, suffered a painful deep cut on his right thumb yesterday while operating a joiner in the the woodshop class at Tamalpais High Schol.

Coleman was given first aid by the school nurse, and taken to Marin General Hospital, where a piece of skin was grafted from his arm to the thumb. He was reported in good condition today.

Sausalito Man Injured

Oliver D. Hofmann of 618 Locust road, Sausalito, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today after falling yesterday evening from a scaffold and breaking his right leg. He was employed by Gil Duby, contractor

AFTER ALL

High School Gets Special Road Guard

There will be a special person on duty to direct traffic during rush hours at Tamalpais High School after all.

In fact, Clifton R. Darblay, 68, of 55 Alta Vista avenue, Mill Valley, started to work today.

Last week, Police Chief James P. McGowan said he thought his men could handle the extra traffic detail. However, today he said Darblay had been hired and he thinks it is a good idea so that the members of the small police force can be relieved for other duty.

Darblay will be paid $2.50 an hour. He will direct traffic on Miller avenue at the high school from 8 to 9 a.m. and from 2:45 to 3:45 p.m.

The Mill Valley Commuters Club had become alarmed at what they said was a slowdown of traffic by straggling students.

A request by the city council that the school student body find some way to handle the matter, brought back a pledge of cooperation and promise of a safety campaign by student body officers. But they were reluctant to staff a crossing patrol on the basis that some parents might object to the idea as unsafe.

2 Hamilton Airmen Jailed In Sonoma On Burglary Count

Two Hamilton Air Force Base airmen today were held in jail in Santa Rosa, charged with burglary.

They are A/2 Lamar L. Perez, 21, and A/2 Jackie Jenkins, 19, both of the 4650th Combat Support Squadron. Both gave their address as Hamilton Air Force Base.

Santa Rosa Police Chief Melvin Flohr said the two were spotted by an officer on patrol as they drove hurriedly away from a service station. On investigation of the station, the officer discovered the cigarette machine had been broken open and looted. He alerted other patrolmen by radio and the two were stopped.

Money and cigarettes had been taken from an undetermined number of cigarette and soft drink machines throughout the city, Flohr said.

Vandal Leaves Dental Office In Shambles

A vandal slipped into a San Rafael dental office sometime last night, dumped all records and supplies on the floors, and left the office in shambles, police reported today.

The office secretary came to work at 8:30 a.m., found the office in a mess, and called police.

Officer Thomas Cheetham said he found no sign of forced entry. At 8 o'clock last night, Officer Eugene Frederick had checked the doors and found everything in order. But this morning, the front door was found unlocked.

Police said the door must have been unlocked by janitors, or the burglar used a key.

'MIRACLE'

The old wind-torn silver foil was stripped from the decoration frames and replaced with the newly purchased silver and red garlands. And Oakley W. Dexter Jr., Chamber of Commerce president, scrounged some red paint for the bells, which were given a bright new spray coat.

Larkspur officials had agreed all along to have any decorations supplied by the chamber put up at city expense. A street department crew did the job yesterday and installed colored bulbs in Christmas lights already strung across Magnolia.

When the lights went on last night, casting a cheery glow on the refurbished yule adornments, the Christmas season had come to Larkspur.

Hub Man Injured In 3-Car Crash

Albe Mario Tognoli, 42, of 2 Sierra avenue, San Anselmo, suffered possible neck injuries in a three-car bumper-to-bumper crash in San Rafael yesterday noon.

He was examined at San Rafael General Hospital and released.

Police said Tognoli had halted his car on Fifth avenue at H street behind a vehicle driven by Clara Elizabeth Haymart of 1404 Chase street, Novato. A third car, operated by William Glenn Hansen of 33 Albion street, San Rafael, crashed into the Tognoli Car. Hansen said his brakes failed.

OBITUARIES

Rites Set For Victims Of Drowning

Mass for Rein and Stephen Cahill, drowned Nov. 29 in the Klamath River, will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Hamilton Air Force Base Chapel.

Rein, 16, and Stephen, 19, drowned when their boat capsized while they were on a fishing expedition near the mouth of the river in Del Notre County. They were the only children of Maj. and Mrs. Robert J. Cahill of 40 Florence avenue, San Anselmo. Major Cahill, formerly stationed at Hamilton, is now commanding officer of a radar station at Requa, near Crescent City.

Stephen's body has not been recovered. Burial for Rein will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno, directed by Keaton's Mortuary of San Rafael.

Besides their parents, who are now residing in Requa, the youths are survived by three grandparents, Mrs. Anne Colman of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Cahill of San Carlos.

Lost Boy Walks Home As Big Hunt Readied

You'll never convince Corte Madera police that today's youngsters aren't as sturdy as kids used to be—not after last night.

Shortly after 9 p.m., Chief Frank L. Nelson received a frantic phone call from a man whose 7-year-old son had been missing for an hour.

The caller was R. P. Lescohier of 249 Corte Madera avenue, Mill Valley. Young Tommy, he reported, had vanished from the Toy World store during a Christmas shopping trip to Corte Madera Center with his father and sister.

Police searched the 20-acre shopping center, but Tommy was nowhere to be found. Inspector Harold Hockett and the worried father prowled the Corte Madera hills in a police car. No Tommy.

Fearing for the boy's safety, Nelson issued a countywide bulletin. He was about to summon the town's volunteer firemen for an all-out search when his phone rang again at 10:15.

It was Tommy's mother, reporting he had just arrived home after truding at least three miles to his home via Highway 101.

"When he couldn't find his dad at 8 o'clock, he simply walked home," Mrs. Lescohier said.

STINGERS

The blood showed an alcohol content of .184 — well above the .150 which courts consider the borderline beyond which the test shows drunkenness.

But, argued defense attorney Andreas, Foley ate a big late supper at the Glad Hand. Then he had four fast stingers (two shots of brandy with one shot of creme de menthe) at the No-Name Bar. He left there just before midnight.

And the stingers hadn't had time to absorb into his system yet, claimed the attorney. He might have been drunk at 1 a.m. but he was cold sober at midnight.

The argument proved convincing. Hence the guinea pigs.

Dr. John Manwaring, pathologist for the county medical department, found five men who were willing to eat and drink "on the county" for test purposes.

After filling up on food at the Glad Hand, they went to the No-Name Bar and started drinking stingers. Dr. Manwaring hovered close by, needle in hand. At regular intervals he took blood samples.

Yesterday, he told the jury that his experiment, and a similar one by another doctor, showed that if Foley had a blood alcohol content of .184 at 1 a.m., it was about .170 at midnight.

However, said Dr. Manwaring, four stingers wouldn't produce that much alcohol in the blood. He figured Foley had more. Maybe about 10.

Attorney Andreas poopooed the whole proceeding. You can't measure intoxication by some arbitrary mathematical procedure, he contended. One man's binge is another's eye-opener.

Highway Patrolman Charles Woodworth, who investigated the accident, testified Foley's breath smelled of drink when he was found unconscious. Dr. Rex Whitworth, San Francisco pediatrician who witnessed Foley's fall, testified he appeared to be speeding and driving his scooter erratically.

Attorneys Weissich and Andreas went into their final arguments today. The jurors listened, presumably with baited breath. Not nearly so baited as the breath of those five guinea pigs, though.

PROTEST

Among written protests read at the meeting were those of Robert G. Anderson and Dr. Thomas B. Wiper. Both of these men were identified in a Marin News advertisement as members of the Citizens for the Protection of the Sausalito Waterfront. Mrs. Sisson said neither man was present last night. The advertisement on which their names appeared urged "all interested in preserving this marvelous view" to attend the meeting.

Both letters asked that the open waterfront be preserved, and any effort to change it be resisted.

Also received was a letter from the Sausalito Citizens Council urging unfavorable consideration of the application on grounds the apartments would create traffic congestion, and that there is not enough off-street parking.

Opposition also was registered by Attorney Richard Gladstein for Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford), proprietor of the Valhalla restaurant and bar. Miss Stanford was present but did not speak. She opposed a similar plan about two years ago on the basis it would cut off the view from her place of business.

Sidney Rudy, an attorney speaking for Walter Benson of Sausalito, president of Views Land Co., spoke in favor of the plan. Owners of the property have a reasonable right to develop it because it is zoned for a use that includes apartments, he contended.

Mrs. Sisson said she did not know whether the planners will reach a decision on the matter at the Jan. 13 meeting.

Sausalito Boy Hurt In School Shop Accident

AFTER ALL

High School Gets Special Road Guard

There will be a special person on duty to direct traffic during rush hours at Tamalpais High School after all.

In fact, Clifton R. Darblay, 68, of 55 Alta Vista avenue, Mill Valley, started to work today.

Last week, Police Chief James P. McGowan said he thought his men could handle the extra traffic detail. However, today he said Darblay had been hired and he thinks it is a good idea so that the members of the small police force can be relieved for other duty.

Darblay will be paid $2.50 an hour. He will direct traffic on Miller avenue at the high school from 8 to 9 a.m. and from 2:45 to 3:45 p.m.

The Mill Valley Commuters Club had become alarmed at what they said was a slowdown of traffic by straggling students.

A request by the city council that the school student body find some way to handle the matter, brought back a pledge of cooperation and promise of a safety campaign by student body officers. But they were reluctant to staff a crossing patrol on the basis that some parents might object to the idea as unsafe.

2 Hamilton Airmen Jailed In Sonoma On Burglary Count

Two Hamilton Air Force Base airmen today were held in jail in Santa Rosa, charged with burglary.

They are A/2 Lamar L. Perez, 21, and A/2 Jackie Jenkins, 19, both of the 4650th Combat Support Squadron. Both gave their address as Hamilton Air Force Base.

Santa Rosa Police Chief Melvin Flohr said the two were spotted by an officer on patrol as they drove hurriedly away from a service station. On investigation of the station, the officer discovered the cigarette machine had been broken open and looted. He alerted other patrolmen by radio and the two were stopped.

Money and cigarettes had been taken from an undetermined number of cigarette and soft drink machines throughout the city, Flohr said.

Vandal Leaves Dental Office In Shambles

A vandal slipped into a San Rafael dental office sometime last night, dumped all records and supplies on the floors, and left the office in shambles, police reported today.

The office secretary came to work at 8:30 a.m., found the office in a mess, and called police.

Officer Thomas Cheetham said he found no sign of forced entry. At 8 o'clock last night, Officer Eugene Frederick had checked the doors and found everything in order. But this morning, the front door was found unlocked.

Police said the door must have been unlocked by janitors, or the burglar used a key.

'MIRACLE'

The old wind-torn silver foil was stripped from the decoration frames and replaced with the newly purchased silver and red garlands. And Oakley W. Dexter Jr., Chamber of Commerce president, scrounged some red paint for the bells, which were given a bright new spray coat.

Larkspur officials had agreed all along to have any decorations supplied by the chamber put up at city expense. A street department crew did the job yesterday and installed colored bulbs in Christmas lights already strung across Magnolia.

When the lights went on last night, casting a cheery glow on the refurbished yule adornments, the Christmas season had come to Larkspur.

Hub Man Injured In 3-Car Crash

Albe Mario Tognoli, 42, of 2 Sierra avenue, San Anselmo, suffered possible neck injuries in a three-car bumper-to-bumper crash in San Rafael yesterday noon.

He was examined at San Rafael General Hospital and released.

Police said Tognoli had halted his car on Fifth avenue at H street behind a vehicle driven by Clara Elizabeth Haymart of 1404 Chase street, Novato. A third car, operated by William Glenn Hansen of 33 Albion street, San Rafael, crashed into the Tognoli Car. Hansen said his brakes failed.

TV Facing Problems Covering Ike's Trip

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—In Rome, the rain poured steadily, fogging the cameras' lenses, washing out yards of film, reducing crowd sizes and putting President Eisenhower—most of the time—inside a closed limousine from which only a waving hand showed.

In Ankara the weather cleared for the cameras but the trans-Atlantic weather was stubborn, delaying jet planes speeding videotape back to the United States.

At all points, the President was on a hurry-up schedule; talks were conducted behind closed doors, and communiques carried little meat for commentators.

These are typical of the problems over which television news men are losing sleep during the 11-country goodwill tour of our President.

Both the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System scheduled in advance a number of special 30-minute shows on Ike's progress and these are the ones that are giving the networks their headaches. This became evident when the first "Journey to Understanding" NBC and "Eyewitness to History" CBS programs were shown earlier this week.

The regular news shows are able to handle the story with more journalistic flexibility.

The Eishenhower tour, unfortunately for the TV men, is turning out to be more like Queen Elizabeth's state visit to the United States than like Khrushchev's. So far, the news shots have been Ike waving from the back of a limousine, wreath-laying, inspecting lines of soldiers, watching local pageants and shaking assorted hands.

It has been formal, scheduled and, frankly, not as exciting viewing as the trip of the unpredictable Soviet.

Bank Planning Relocation In Fairfax

Preliminary plans for relocating Bank of America's Fairfax branch were announced today by manager J. C. Crean.

The branch's present leased premises and adjoining unimproved property to the west have been purchased as a site for the new office, Crean said.

Fronting 108 feet on Broadway, the combined irregular-shaped property is bounded on the west by School street and on the east by Bank street. From Broadway it extends 120 feet along School and 95 feet along Bank.

The present 44 by 95-foot branch property was purchased from the estate of M. H. Ballou and the unimproved lot from Martha L. Allen of Fairfax.

Further details of the branch relocation will be announced as plans are completed, Crean said.

TV Facing Problems Covering Ike's Trip

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—In Rome, the rain poured steadily, fogging the cameras' lenses, washing out yards of film, reducing crowd sizes and putting President Eisenhower—most of the time—inside a closed limousine from which only a waving hand showed.

In Ankara the weather cleared for the cameras but the trans-Atlantic weather was stubborn, delaying jet planes speeding videotape back to the United States.

At all points, the President was on a hurry-up schedule; talks were conducted behind closed doors, and communiques carried little meat for commentators.

ACTION ON COLLEGE COUNCIL DEFERRED

Liaison Committee Delays Decision On Plans For Over-All Coordinating Body

BERKELEY (AP)—A committee set up by the state Legislature recommends additional colleges for California but postpones a decision on the administration of the state's higher education program.

The liaison committee of the University of California regents and the state Board of Education ended a three-day conference yesterday by postponing a recommendation for future coordination of college matters.

It adopted the team's proposals for limiting state college and university admissions, construction of new institutions and faculty procurement.

A proposal by Dr. Arthur G. Coons, president of Occidental College, for creation of a super coordination council was considered at length yesterday and then deferred. Dr. Coons proposed a council that would supervise budgets and overall administration.

Such a body would supercede the university's Board of Regents, itself a constitutional group with broad powers, and create an equally-powerful board of state college trustees, leaving junior colleges under the jurisdiction of the state Board of Education. State colleges presently also are under the state board.

Dr. Coons headed an eight-man survey team which studied problems arising from California's population growth. He also is chairman of the liaison committee.

The committee approved recommendations for construction of 22 new junior colleges within the next five years. It also urged establishment of three new university campuses, in the San Mateo County area, southeast Los Angeles and in the La Jolla area.

Two new state colleges would be established in the vicinity of Los Angeles International Airport and the San Bernardino-Riverside area.

Training Meet Ends

Ten Marin County Shell service station operators and their employees have concluded a three-day retail training school at the Edgewater Inn motel in Corte Madera, conducted by Kenneth W. Koht, Shell Oil Co. merchandising representative from Santa Rosa.

NUCLEAR ATTACK

CD Officials May Have To Play By Ear

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Western civil defense chiefs might have to disregard carefully-laid plans and play it by ear, in the event of a nuclear attack.

The chiefs from five states were reminded of this yesterday by Navy Capt. G. W. Jewett, assistant operations chief for the 12th Naval District.

"It is better to have a plan than no plan at all," said Jewett, commenting on the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization plan to meet varied conditions of an attack. "But there should be no idea that this plan will adhere in every way to every condition which may arise."

He said it was the Navy's experience that plans sometimes have to be scrapped or revised to meet enemy-created conditions. His comment was prompted by a steady flow of questions on details from the city, county and state civil defense officials at the regional conference.

"That is what leadership is for," Jewett added.

Giants Race Braves In Bid For Card Second Baseman

Blasingame Hot Item As Trading Deadline Nears

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., (UPI) — The baseball meetings turned out to be a complete bust for the Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees, who came in plenty hopeful but left empty-handed.

Neither of the two clubs was able to swing a single deal although both tried in every possible direction.

"We're not giving up," said McHale, obviously disappointed. "There is still plenty of time for us to shop around."

Actually, there isn't as much time as he thinks. If he has Frank Bolling of the Tigers or Gil McDougald of the Yankees in mind, McHale has only five more days because the new inter-league trading period officially ends Dec. 15.

And if he's hoping to land Don Blasingame of the Cardinals, some other club is liable to beat him to the punch.

San Francisco and Cleveland also are interested in the little St. Louis second baseman, and before he left here, General Manager Bing Devine said he probably would talk to both those clubs before the end of the week.

PRICE TOO HIGH

It is known the Yankees did inquire about Charley Maxwell of Detroit. Nothing came of it. They also talked about Roger Maris of Kansas City and Harry Anderson of Philadelphia, but found the asking price too high.

At one time, the Yanks were close to completing two deals but Casey Stengel vetoed both.

"Darn right I did," Stengel snapped. "Why should I give up men who I know are better than the ones they offer me? There's no sense making deals like that, is there?"

"Well," replied Weiss, standing nearby, "we didn't make those deals, did we?"

BURFORD SIGNS WITH DALLAS IN NEW LEAGUE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Stanford End Chris Burford has signed with the Dallas Texans of the American Professional Football League, says Dan Rossi, club general manager.

Rossi said yesterday that Burford, 6-foot-3, 200-pound captain of the Stanford squad who had also been drafted by the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, "signed for the same salary Cleveland offered him, but he was convinced that he had a better future with Dallas."

North Shrine Prep Coaches Announced

Charles Moore of Kingsburg High School and John "Biff" Crawley of San Leandro have been named co-coaches for the North squad in the ninth anual Shrine North-South Football Classic in the Los Angeles Coliseum next summer.

The announcement was made today from the Shrine Football Office in Los Angeles. Their selection was made last Sunday at a meeting of North football writers in Bakersfield.

Moore's Kingsburg team compiled eight victories and one loss this season while San Leandro went undefeated in nine games to win the northern California mythical championship. Marin fans saw Crawley's San Leandro powerhouse defeat San Rafael 32-6 in October.

The selection of Moore and Crawley was somewhat of a blow to Redwood High fans who thought Giant Coach Bob Troppman, whose team had an 8-0 record, would get the coveted Shrine game coaching post.

Sausalito VFW Post Organized

A new Veterans of Foreign Wars post being organized in Sausalito has been assigned charter number 7776, Don Louderback, temporary chairman, announced today.

Another organizing meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Bee Street Hall, on Bee street at Caledonia street, Louderback said.

Anyone who has served in United States armed forces overseas during wartime or on occupation duty, and has been honorably discharged or is still in active service, is eligible for membership, Louderback said. Those enrolling with the new chapter immediately will be listed as charter members.

Ex-Gym Manager Guilty Of Theft From Customers

Newt Humphreys, former manager of Vic Tanny Gym in San Rafael, was found guilty Tuesday of two counts of petty theft involving money he took from clients last summer.

Judge Robert J. Duggan of El Cerrito, sitting in Marin Municipal Court, set 3:30 p.m. Dec. 28 as the time for sentencing Humphreys. Another former manager of Vic Tanny's, John Girard, has been cleared of a similar charge.

Two San Rafael women testified that Humphrey guaranteed to them that the gym workouts would cure physical ailments which doctors had been unable to cure for years. They told the judge the workouts made their ailments worse.

Marin Quint Defeated By Vallejo J.C.

By JOHN LARKIN

College of Marin Tars ran into a red-hot Vallejo Junior College basektball club last night at Vallejo and were rudely blasted from the undefeated ranks by a 71-52 margin.

The Tars fell behind immediately after the opening tipoff and could never make up the initial deficit. Vallejo held a 15-point margin at one point in the first half before the Tars rallied for six straight points to close the halftime deficit to 24-33. Vallejo enjoyed phenomenal shooting accuracy in the first half, hitting 60 per cent of its floor shots to Marin's 33 per cent.

The Mariners displayed a determined effort in the second half, but there seemed to be a lid on their basket as easy lay-ins rolled in, then out.

Vallejo hit on 24 of 41 field goal attempts for 59 per cent and cashed in on the foul line with 79 per cent accuracy. Marin hit 19 of 59 floor shots for 32 per cent and hit 50 per cent from the foul line.

Ken Anderson once again led Marin scorers with 17 points, followed by Gerry Reese with 11, Ray Nickleberry 9, Dale Aman 5, Ken Gelatti 4 and John Blomquist, Luther Wallace and Robbie Harvey two apiece.

The Tars travel to Santa Rosa tomorrow night to tackle Santa Rosa J.C. at 8 o'clock.

Liston 'Listless' In Win Over Besmanoff

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sonny Liston, who wants a shot at the heavyweight title, isn't too satisfied with his decisive defeat of Willi Besmanoff last night.

"I wasn't too sharp," he said in his dressing room after the nationally televised (ABC) fight. It was his nineteenth straight victory.

"I didn't start to warm up until the sixth," added Liston, third-ranked heavyweight contender.

Besmanoff absorbed a barrage of punches in the sixth and was bleeding from several bad gashes over his eyes. The referee stopped the bout between rounds and it was scored a seventh-round technical knockout.

The 27-year-old Besmanoff, German-born but now fighting out of Milwaukee, said glumly:

"That cut over the left eye bothered me from the first round, but I still thought I could go the distance and probably beat him. He was punching himself out and I thought I could come on."

Liston, 27, of Philadelphia, started slowly, relying on sharp lefthand punches which caught Besmanoff with regularity. The 210-pound Liston was nine pounds heavier than Besmanoff.

Liston now has won 26 of 27 fights.

Besmanoff, loser in his last two bouts, has a record of 41 victories, 17 defeats and seven draws.

The fight drew a crowd of 7,710. The gate was $27,897.

Pete Rademacher, who started his professional fighting career in an unsuccessful bid for the heavyweight title, easily bested Johnny York of Norristown, Pa. in a preliminary. He won a unanimous decision in the eight-rounder.

CHICAGO (AP) — National Hockey League referees are wearing red arm bands this season. The ribbons make it easier for the players and fans to distinguish the referee from the two linesmen. All have identical attire otherwise.

Sixto Jumps To Sixth In Ring Ratings

Kid Sixto Rodriguez of San Anselmo lost his last bout, but he still jumped up a rung in Ring Magazine's monthly world ratings of light-heavyweights.

Rodriguez, rated seventh last month, was listed sixth in the December ratings announced this morning.

The light-heavyweight division underwent the biggest shakeup due to the retirement of Canadian Yvon Durelle and Jesse Bowdry's loss to Henry Hank of Detroit.

Bowdry, of St. Louis, fell from fourth to fifth and Mike Holt of South Africa, who decisioned Rodriguez in 10 rounds at Johannesburg last Saturday, jumped from fifth to third. Von Clay, of Philadelphia, whom Rodriguez held to a draw in a nationally-televised fight in October, advanced from sixth to fourth.

Ring Magazine today also honored Champion Joe Brown and Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer as "fighters of the month" for successful defenses of their titles. Brown stopped England's Dave Charnley on a sixth round technical knockout and Fullmer won a unanimous decision over Spider Webb last Friday.

Dave George Wins Cal's 'Line' Award

Dave George of Mill Valley, junior end for the University of California varsity, last night was honored as the Bears' "most improved lineman" in the recently-completed season.

George shared the honor with guard Doug Graham from Sacramento. Jackie Jensen, Boston Red Sox outfielder and former Cal star, presented the awards to the co-winners of the award at the team's annual banquet.

George, 6-10, 180-pounder, is the son of John George, vice principal at Tamalpais High School.

Last night's banquet saw senior tackle Frank Sally reap the richest harvest of awards. He was cited as the most valuable lineman and was picked as the most valuable player by the Berkeley Bear Backers and Northern California Football writers.

TITLE BOUT PROMOTER ARRESTED—PERJURY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Vincent J. Velella, head of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., today was indicted and arrested on two counts of perjury in connection with the June 26 heavyweight championship bout between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson.

The indictment charged that Velella gave "false testimony" before the New York State Athletic Commission on Sept. 15 concerning the promotion of the fight and also before the New York County Grand Jury on Aug. 10.

The indictment was returned by the New York County Grand Jury.

District Attorney Frank Hogan announced the action, the first indictment to be returned by the grand jury in its investigation of the unusual incidents surrounding the promotion of the bout in which Johansson knocked out Patterson to win the world title. The bout itself is not under investigation.

FISH-GAME PROBLEMS

Controlled Hunting Appears A Certainty

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The fellow who shoots at one of the top Butte Basin duck clubs normally can pick his birds, shooting greenhead mallards one day and buck sprig on another.

Likewise with the hunter who has access to the really good deer country. He can pass up three-pointers that would make most buck hunters drool.

But selectivity in hunting and fishing is a relative thing. Under certain poor conditions, most of the favored duck hunters would have to settle for a few old spoonbills. And the buck hunters, under adverse conditions, might have to shoot a little forked horn or, heaven forbid, a doe.

Which brings us around to a problem of hunting in general, and deer hunting more specifically. Where is the increase in deer hunters, and resulting heavy concentrations in the good, accessible areas going to end?

William E. Warne, fish and game director who has been making quite a few speeches lately and laying down some fundamental philosophies of the department, opened up some interesting avenues of thought with a recent statement before the California Cattleman's Assn. in Eureka.

Warne noted that 40 per cent of the state's deer range is on private property and that conflicts between agricultural operations and hunting are resulting in less private land being open to hunting each year.

"There is, however, a great potential for adequate control and harvest of deer on private land," Warne said. "To bring this about, certain provisions not now in the huting regulations may have to be adopted, to allow landowners to participate in the selection of the persons who hunt on their land."

Now those are fightin' words to some hunters. They will upset some hunters almost as much as a mention of controlling buck hunters as to the areas or districts in which they're permitted to hunt.

But if there's any handwriting on the deer-hunting wall, it appears to be some form of control of the hunters in the future. Everyone knows what happened under uncontrolled conditions in certain areas during the 1956 either-sex deer hunt. Everyone knows what happens during a regular open buck season, if the deer migrations start, or if weather conditions are ideal to put the bucks on the move.

While there's been a temporary drop the last couple of years in sales of hunting licenses and deer tags, it's only temporary. The numbers will start to climb again and today's minor problems will be major ones in a few years.

Perhaps California hunters aren't ready to accept controls yet, because many still are able to hunt, even if not successfully. But it's only a matter of time.

Hunters might do well to think about these changes and begin to prepare for them. They're as inevitable as the trout limit reduction just ordered.

Giants Race Braves In Bid For Card Second Baseman

Blasingame Hot Item As Trading Deadline Nears

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., (UPI) — The baseball meetings turned out to be a complete bust for the Milwaukee Braves and New York Yankees, who came in plenty hopeful but left empty-handed.

Neither of the two clubs was able to swing a single deal although both tried in every possible direction.

"We're not giving up," said McHale, obviously disappointed. "There is still plenty of time for us to shop around."

Actually, there isn't as much time as he thinks. If he has Frank Bolling of the Tigers or Gil McDougald of the Yankees in mind, McHale has only five more days because the new inter-league trading period officially ends Dec. 15.

And if he's hoping to land Don Blasingame of the Cardinals, some other club is liable to beat him to the punch.

San Francisco and Cleveland also are interested in the little St. Louis second baseman, and before he left here, General Manager Bing Devine said he probably would talk to both those clubs before the end of the week.

L.A. Coach Moans: Colts Have Just Too Many Guns

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams has several grave problems to face, the most immediate being the Baltimore Colts here Saturday.

The Rams have a miserable record of nine defeats and only two victories and are 10-point underdogs to lose their eighth straight when the Colts move into Memorial Coliseum in the final game of the National Football League regular schedule.

Gillman is also fully aware that his job may vanish with the Rams, but he is working as hard as ever.

He isn't the type to concede a win to any time, but he does suspect that the Colts, as the defending NFL champions, are the best team in the league and will so reign for another year.

"The Colts," said Gillman today, "have too many guns. And in Johnny Unitas—well, to my mind, he is as great as any quarterback the NFL ever had".

Baltimore shellacked the erstwhile pace-setting San Francisco 49ers last Saturday, 34-14. Victory here will sew up the western division title and send the Colts into the championship with the eastern division winners, the New York Giants.

POSSIBLE PLAYOFF

Gillman admittedly admires all departments of the Baltimore club, and singled out its pass defense for one.

"How many pass interceptions do they have, 34 or 35?" he inquired. "I wish someone would give us the ball 35 times."

Sid didn't add, although he could, that the Ram defenders have intercepted only seven all season.

And worse than that, the Rams have fumbled the ball away 19 times, and a large share of them came at the most inopportune times.

Three weeks ago in Baltimore the Colts beat the Rams, 35-21, but the Rams, with a makeshift lineup, kept it close until the fourth quarter.

Last year the Rams, after taking a 34-7 licking at Baltimore, threw a scare into the Colts' title hopes by trimming them, 30-28, here in the rematch.

Saturday's game will be nationally televised via the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Syracuse Guard Wins 'Lineman Of The Year' Honor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger Davis, a scrappy standout even on such a talented line as national Champion Syracuse's "sizeable seven," today was named by United Press International as college football's "Lineman of the Year" for 1959.

Davis, a six-foot, three-inch 228-pounder from Solon, Ohio, took the honor in a nationwide poll of 343 sports writers and broadcasters by only two votes—nosing out his fellow All-America guard, Billy Burrell of Illinois.

Davis received 58 votes to 56 for Burrell. Tackle Don Lanphear of Wisconsin was third with 32, followed by controversial guard Mike McKeever of Southern California with 30 and guard Zeke Smith of Auburn with 25.

Other leading vote-getters were guard Mike McGee of Duke with 19, end Monty Stickles of Notre Dame with 13, guard Marvin Terrill of Mississippi with 11, end Chris Burford of Stanford with 10 and "Lonely End" Bill Carpenter of Army with nine. The remaining 80 vote were divided among 33 players.

Detroit's Jim Bunning led the American League in strikeouts in 1959 with 205. Washington's Camilo Pascual was second with 184.

San Anselmo To Nominate Junior Baseball Officers

Marston Thall, San Anselmo heating and sheet metal installer and World Ward II navy officer, is scheduled to be nominated tomorrow for the presidency of the San Anselmo Little League-Junior League in 1960.

Thall, vice president of the Major League division in 1959, heads a slate to be offered before the annual parents' meeting of the youth baseball organization at Isabel Cook School All-purpose room at 7:30 p.m.

Harold Truett, San Anselmo attorney who is this year's president, said nominations for all offices can be made from the floor, but suggested potential nominees first be contacted to determine if they would serve if elected.

Truett said plans for the new Senior League — for 15-16 and 17-year-olds — also would be outlined.

Bill Franchini, San Anselmo city councilman and chairman of the league nominating committee, said that in addition to Thall the following would be proposed:

Ben Badaracco, J. L. Berryhill, John Coffey, Joseph Crean, William Franchini, Gino Gizzi, Philip Hiaring, Charles Hudson, Frank Quinn, Dick Street, Don Thompson, Harold Truett and Don Young.

Nominations will be necessary from the floor for two other positions: director and superintendent of grounds, and a new office, that of purchasing and property agent.

Bronco Hoopsters Invade S. F. State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Northern California basketball interest will focus tonight on the San Francisco State gymnasium as the Gators open their home season against the favored Santa Clara Broncs.

The Gators have dropped three road games while the Broncs have toppled Southern Cal 64-61 and lost to UCLA in overtime 75-73.

The College of the Pacific Tigers shellacked the California Aggies at Davis yesterday 55-37. COP's Leroy Wright scored 17 points on seven field goals and three free throws. Mike Freeman paced the Aggies with 12 points.

Red Hot Billy G. Takes Pin Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—The World Invitational Bowling Tournament moved into the last half of the final rounds today with Billy Golembiewski, a 30-year-pro, in the top spot.

Golembiewski, a member of the ABC champion Pfeiffers team of Detroit, was the big gun in yesterday's firing in the $30,000 tourney in the Chicago Coliseum.

Sixteen more games are scheduled today and the final 16 on tomorrow, with part of the shooting to be nationally-televised tomorrow night, 7 p.m. PST, NBC.

Golembiewski vaulted from third place into the lead with spectacular shooting. He averaged nearly 240 as he won 12 of 16 games in the second day of match competition. He was the leader in all categories—games won, pinfall and points.

SWEEPS SERIES

Billy G., as the fans call him, was red-hot in the final four games last night, sweeping the series from Billy Welu of St. Louis with a 903 series on games of 215, 237, 224 and 227. Welu, all-star champion from St. Lopis, posted 736.

Golembiewski, with 21½ games won and 10½ lost, had 161.40 Petersen points. In the first 32 games he knocked down 7,015 pins for an average of 219 per game.

In second place was Ray Bluth of St. Louis who won 12 of 16 games as he moved from eighth place to runnerup. He had 21 wins and 11 losses and 159.33 points.

Lou Frantz of Louisville, Ky., the leader after the first 16 games, dropped to third with a 20-12 won-lost record and 154.41 points. He won 7 games and lost 9 yesterday.

In the women's division, Mrs. Olga Gloor, 39-year-old Chicago housewife, held her lead as she continued her sensational shooting. She has won 12 games and lost four, has 79.03 points and has averaged 209 for 16 games. The women bowl only eight games a day.

Closest to Mrs. Gloor was Donna Zimmerman, a 26-year-old typist from Akron, Ohio, who had 74.35 points and was averaging a shade under 203, and Robbie Frey, an attractive 35-year-old redhead from Dallas, who was third with 73.40 points.

Veep Praises Cannon At Heisman Fete

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Cannon, Louisiana State's All-America halfback, heads back to Baton Rouge today, taking with him the accolades of Vice President Richard M. Nixon who presented him with the Heisman Trophy last night.

"He may not be the best runner, kicker, passer, tackler or pass receiver," Nixon told a nationwide radio audience and hundreds assembled at the Downtown Athletic Club, "but Billy Cannon is the best football player in the United States today."

Nixon described him as "not an ordinary Cannon, but an atomic Cannon—the ultimate weapon in the arsenal of Paul Dietzel (LSU coach)."

The Heisman Trophy is given each year to the outstanding football player in the nation by a vote of sportswriters and broadcasters in conjunction with the Downtown A.C. here.

L.A. Coach Moans: Colts Have Just Too Many Guns

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams has several grave problems to face, the most immediate being the Baltimore Colts here Saturday.

The Rams have a miserable record of nine defeats and only two victories and are 10-point underdogs to lose their eighth straight when the Colts move into Memorial Coliseum in the final game of the National Football League regular schedule.

Gillman is also fully aware that his job may vanish with the Rams, but he is working as hard as ever.

He isn't the type to concede a win to any time, but he does suspect that the Colts, as the defending NFL champions, are the best team in the league and will so reign for another year.

"The Colts," said Gillman today, "have too many guns. And in Johnny Unitas—well, to my mind, he is as great as any quarterback the NFL ever had".

Baltimore shellacked the erstwhile pace-setting San Francisco 49ers last Saturday, 34-14. Victory here will sew up the western division title and send the Colts into the championship with the eastern division winners, the New York Giants.

POSSIBLE PLAYOFF

Gillman admittedly admires all departments of the Baltimore club, and singled out its pass defense for one.

"How many pass interceptions do they have, 34 or 35?" he inquired. "I wish someone would give us the ball 35 times."

Sid didn't add, although he could, that the Ram defenders have intercepted only seven all season.

And worse than that, the Rams have fumbled the ball away 19 times, and a large share of them came at the most inopportune times.

Three weeks ago in Baltimore the Colts beat the Rams, 35-21, but the Rams, with a makeshift lineup, kept it close until the fourth quarter.

Last year the Rams, after taking a 34-7 licking at Baltimore, threw a scare into the Colts' title hopes by trimming them, 30-28, here in the rematch.

Saturday's game will be nationally televised via the Columbia Broadcasting System.

30 NATIONS ENTERED IN WINTER GAMES

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI)—A total of 30 nations have mailed in application blanks to participate in the Winter Olympic Games which open Feb. 18, according to officials here.

Four other nations—Argentina, India, Lebanon and Greece—cabled that their entries were en route.

The deadline for returning blanks was Tuesday. Participating nations have until Feb. 4 to list names of athletes comprising their teams.

Blanks were received from Australia, Austria, Bulgaria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, China, Chile, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, Japan, Korea, Lichtenstein, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Poland, Russia, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, United States, and Yugoslavia.

Syracuse Guard Wins 'Lineman Of The Year' Honor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger Davis, a scrappy standout even on such a talented line as national Champion Syracuse's "sizeable seven," today was named by United Press International as college football's "Lineman of the Year" for 1959.

Davis, a six-foot, three-inch 228-pounder from Solon, Ohio, took the honor in a nationwide poll of 343 sports writers and broadcasters by only two votes—nosing out his fellow All-America guard, Billy Burrell of Illinois.

Davis received 58 votes to 56 for Burrell. Tackle Don Lanphear of Wisconsin was third with 32, followed by controversial guard Mike McKeever of Southern California with 30 and guard Zeke Smith of Auburn with 25.

Other leading vote-getters were guard Mike McGee of Duke with 19, end Monty Stickles of Notre Dame with 13, guard Marvin Terrill of Mississippi with 11, end Chris Burford of Stanford with 10 and "Lonely End" Bill Carpenter of Army with nine. The remaining 80 vote were divided among 33 players.

Detroit's Jim Bunning led the American League in strikeouts in 1959 with 205. Washington's Camilo Pascual was second with 184.

DRAKE HIGH PASSES OUT GRID AWARDS

PLAY IN MARIN TOURNAMENT

Eric Lindner (left) of Redwood and Ray Edwards of Tamalpais, two of the Marin County Athletic League's standout players, will be in action tomorrow and Saturday in the MCAL's first annual basketball tournament at Drake. In fact, many fans expect these two to stage a personal clash Saturday night as their teams are favored to gain the finals. Tomorrow's first round games are San Rafael vs. Drake at 6:30 o'clock, Marin Catholic vs. Tamalpais at 7:45 and Redwood vs. Novato at 9. Five games are slated Saturday.

Christmas Cage Tourney Scheduled

San Rafael High School Gym will be a busy place during the Christmas school vacation period. The annual Youth Christmas Basketball Tournament, jointly sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department and the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been scheduled for Dec. 21, 22, 23. Some 35 to 40 teams are expected to battle for honors in the four age group tournaments.

Any group of from six to twelve boys whose ages fall into one of the four classifications (12 and under, 14 and under, 16 and under, and 18 and under), may enter the tournament. It is advisable, but not necessary, to have an adult manager.

No boy who is currently a member of a high school varsity, junior varsity, or class B team may compete. This also applies to boys who may be members of a college freshman or varsity team, but still fall within the 18 and under classification.

Boys interested in competing may obtain a team roster and enter the tournament by applying to the Recreation Department office at Albert Park, San Rafael.

A La In-The-Face

They said a young girl told them her boyfriend had dumped a plateful of spaghetti on her head.

The boyfriend admitted it, but claimed self defense. He said the girl first hit him in the face with a large pizza.

Lakers Vs. Syracuse Tonight In Cow Palace 'Test' Contest

Although professional basketball may not come to the west coast on a permanent basis for some years, San Francisco becomes a test site again tonight when the Minneapolis Lakers meet the Syracuse Nats at the Cow Palace.

Last year Salesian Boys' Club Director Fred Scolari, former pro star and coach, brought out the Lakers and the Boston Celtics for a benefit game. It drew over 13,000 spectators.

Minneapolis president Bob Short was enthusiastic over the turnout and staged a game on his own between the Lakers and the Cincinnati Royals. The attendance, held down by heavy rains and a championship boxing match on television, was less than 3,000.

8,000 EXPECTED

The Salesian Boys' Club is backing and benefitting from tonight's clash and a gate somewhere in-between last year's high and low points is expected, roughly about 8,000.

The Lakers' Elgin Baylor is the big drawing card, but the 6-6 NBA Rookie of the Year last winter may be overshadowed by Syracuse's Dolph Schayes, a 12-year veteran who has never missed selection to All-NBA team.

Relatively unknown on the Pacific Coast, as compared to Baylor, Schayes is one of the established stars of the pro game in the East. Last season, he shattered the all-time scoring record compiled by former Minneapolis great George Mikan. Now every point scored by Schayes increases his mark. He has more than 15,000 points to his credit.

The game also will be a homecoming for the Nats' George Yardley, who ranks among the best basketball players developed at Stanford. Yardley, a civil engineer employed in missile research during the off-season, guides the ball into the hoop with such success that he was the NBA's leading scorer two years ago while with the Detroit Pistons.

Rounding out the strong front line for the Nationals is center John Kerr, the team's tallest player at 6-9½ and an outstanding rebounder. In the backcourt, Syracuse has Larry Costello, the league leader in free throw accuracy, and Hal Greer, a rookie who was an All-American at Temple.

The Lakers can't match Syracuse's balance, but Baylor has been an effective workhorse. He carried the team through the Western Division playoffs last year and into the finals against the Celtics.

Vern Mikkleson has retired, but Minneapolis has picked up some promising rookies, namely, Notre Dame All-American Tom Hawkins and Rudy LaRusso, who recently went on a scoring spree when Baylor was sidelined by the flu.

Still with the Lakers are centers Larry Foust and Jim Krebs, both 6-9, and guards Dick Garmaker and Hot Rod Huntley. Garmaker is a set-shot artist.

It is a regularly scheduled NBA game and will count in the standings. Under pro rules, there will be 12-minute quarters and a maximum of 24 seconds between shots.

Tipoff time is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Santiago To Head Little League In Marinwood Area

John Santiago will head the Marinwood Little League in the 1960 season, it was announced recently.

He was elected president of the league to succeed Jack Codington.

Powell, King Sign For Jan. 11 Vegas Fight

Powell, San Diego, was knocked out by Mike DeJohn in Syracuse, N. Y. his last time out. Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson scored a 10th round technical knockout over King at Boise, Idaho, the last time the Reno, Nev., slugger stepped through the ropes.

Entry Deadline Next Monday For Basketball League

Entry deadline is next Monday for the San Rafael Recreation Department's Men's Basketball League, it was announced today by Director Joe Rodota.

Rodota said final meeting for entering a team in the annual league will be held next Monday night, 7:30 o'clock, at Albert Park.

To date, he said, 16 teams have indicated a desire to participate.

PLAY IN MARIN TOURNAMENT

Eric Lindner (left) of Redwood and Ray Edwards of Tamalpais, two of the Marin County Athletic League's standout players, will be in action tomorrow and Saturday in the MCAL's first annual basketball tournament at Drake. In fact, many fans expect these two to stage a personal clash Saturday night as their teams are favored to gain the finals. Tomorrow's first round games are San Rafael vs. Drake at 6:30 o'clock, Marin Catholic vs. Tamalpais at 7:45 and Redwood vs. Novato at 9. Five games are slated Saturday.

Lakers Vs. Syracuse Tonight In Cow Palace 'Test' Contest

Although professional basketball may not come to the west coast on a permanent basis for some years, San Francisco becomes a test site again tonight when the Minneapolis Lakers meet the Syracuse Nats at the Cow Palace.

Last year Salesian Boys' Club Director Fred Scolari, former pro star and coach, brought out the Lakers and the Boston Celtics for a benefit game. It drew over 13,000 spectators.

Minneapolis president Bob Short was enthusiastic over the turnout and staged a game on his own between the Lakers and the Cincinnati Royals. The attendance, held down by heavy rains and a championship boxing match on television, was less than 3,000.

8,000 EXPECTED

The Salesian Boys' Club is backing and benefitting from tonight's clash and a gate somewhere in-between last year's high and low points is expected, roughly about 8,000.

The Lakers' Elgin Baylor is the big drawing card, but the 6-6 NBA Rookie of the Year last winter may be overshadowed by Syracuse's Dolph Schayes, a 12-year veteran who has never missed selection to All-NBA team.

Relatively unknown on the Pacific Coast, as compared to Baylor, Schayes is one of the established stars of the pro game in the East. Last season, he shattered the all-time scoring record compiled by former Minneapolis great George Mikan. Now every point scored by Schayes increases his mark. He has more than 15,000 points to his credit.

The game also will be a homecoming for the Nats' George Yardley, who ranks among the best basketball players developed at Stanford. Yardley, a civil engineer employed in missile research during the off-season, guides the ball into the hoop with such success that he was the NBA's leading scorer two years ago while with the Detroit Pistons.

Rounding out the strong front line for the Nationals is center John Kerr, the team's tallest player at 6-9½ and an outstanding rebounder. In the backcourt, Syracuse has Larry Costello, the league leader in free throw accuracy, and Hal Greer, a rookie who was an All-American at Temple.

The Lakers can't match Syracuse's balance, but Baylor has been an effective workhorse. He carried the team through the Western Division playoffs last year and into the finals against the Celtics.

Vern Mikkleson has retired, but Minneapolis has picked up some promising rookies, namely, Notre Dame All-American Tom Hawkins and Rudy LaRusso, who recently went on a scoring spree when Baylor was sidelined by the flu.

Still with the Lakers are centers Larry Foust and Jim Krebs, both 6-9, and guards Dick Garmaker and Hot Rod Huntley. Garmaker is a set-shot artist.

It is a regularly scheduled NBA game and will count in the standings. Under pro rules, there will be 12-minute quarters and a maximum of 24 seconds between shots.

Tipoff time is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Santiago To Head Little League In Marinwood Area

John Santiago will head the Marinwood Little League in the 1960 season, it was announced recently.

He was elected president of the league to succeed Jack Codington.

Other outging officers are Vice President Bob Wallace and Secretary-treasurer Sid Steele.

Powell, San Diego, was knocked out by Mike DeJohn in Syracuse, N. Y. his last time out. Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson scored a 10th round technical knockout over King at Boise, Idaho, the last time the Reno, Nev., slugger stepped through the ropes.

Entry deadline is next Monday for the San Rafael Recreation Department's Men's Basketball League, it was announced today by Director Joe Rodota.

Rodota said final meeting for entering a team in the annual league will be held next Monday night, 7:30 o'clock, at Albert Park.

To date, he said, 16 teams have indicated a desire to participate.

Christmas Cage Tourney Scheduled

San Rafael High School Gym will be a busy place during the Christmas school vacation period. The annual Youth Christmas Basketball Tournament, jointly sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department and the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been scheduled for Dec. 21, 22, 23. Some 35 to 40 teams are expected to battle for honors in the four age group tournaments.

Any group of from six to twelve boys whose ages fall into one of the four classifications (12 and under, 14 and under, 16 and under, and 18 and under), may enter the tournament. It is advisable, but not necessary, to have an adult manager.

No boy who is currently a member of a high school varsity, junior varsity, or class B team may compete. This also applies to boys who may be members of a college freshman or varsity team, but still fall within the 18 and under classification.

Boys interested in competing may obtain a team roster and enter the tournament by applying to the Recreation Department office at Albert Park, San Rafael.

Deadline for entry is next Tuesday.

A La In-The-Face

They said a young girl told them her boyfriend had dumped a plateful of spaghetti on her head.

The boyfriend admitted it, but claimed self defense. He said the girl first hit him in the face with a large pizza.

'STATUS' ISSUE INVOLVED

Radio Panel Debates Race Discrimination In Housing

Imposed segregation in housing tends to stimulate prejudice and sets up a basis for other forms of discrimination, a speaker on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program declared today.

Robert Pitts of Mill Valley, housing market analyst with the Federal Housing Administration, also said that the tremendous pressure for status, the "concern about what other people think of us," is really at the back of much of the "shenanigans" in residential segregation.

Where people live is probably the one thing that signifies status for them, Pitts said. This gives rise to "twisted concepts of freedom and liberty" in the matter of housing, he declared.

Pitts was one of four speakers discussing racial discrimination in housing in Marin County and what to do about it. Also on the panel were Lloyd Grandi, chairman of the Marin County Committee on Racial Discrimination; Edward P. Morphy, president of the Marin County Real Estate Board, and Mrs. Granville Coggs of Terra Linda. Kitty Oppenheimer was moderator.

Morphy said he was opposed to any legislation which would take away any of the rights of property owners, including the right to refuse to sell to anyone. Integration in Marin County housing has been "peaceable," he said.

Realty brokers have no problem with any buyer of any race if he is "sincere," qualifies financially and his voluntary desires for housing are considered, Morphy said.

He declared, however, that "phonies" or "plants" sent to show that property is not available to Negroes might get "rough treatment, and they deserve it."

Grandi reviewed the work of his committee, which has suggested a county ordinance establishing a method to determine if there is discrimination in housing and to handle complaints.

Discrimination exists in Marin, he said, but is not in proportion to that in other communities because rents and real estate costs are higher here, so there is an economic barrier for minority groups.

Mrs. Coggs urged that concerned persons give support to Grandi's committee and to the Citizens Committee for Fair Play on Housing. "The matter of individual freedom concerns each one of us," she said.

Persons with property to sell could see that it is available for sale to any person, she added.

Grandi, in response to a question from a listener, said that he did not see how Negroes could be kept out of the Fairhills district in San Rafael—which he developed—if they qualified. He noted, however, that most persons appearing before his committee—mostly Negroes — were "on a minimum purchase basis" and less than five per cent would be able to afford houses in Fairhills.

Pitts said that, historically, Negroes have been at the lower end of the economic scale, but in recent years an increasing number has moved up the scale and become able to compete in every market. "In the years to come you will find an increasing number of minority groups can purchase in any area," he said.

Another listener asked whether Grandi's committee could make recommendations to the supervisors to end the policy of discrimination in Hilarita Housing which, he said, is restricted to whites.

Grand said his committee had no authority and he did not believe the board had either. Pitts observed that in Marin City project the Marin County Housing Authority had been commended for operating under a non-segregation policy.

The program will be rebroadcast via tape-recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Handicapped Children Enjoy Entertainment

The 30 students at the Marindale School for handicapped children in Terra Linda were entertained by two 18-year-old boys and a folk dancing class from Santa Margarita school Tuesday afternoon.

Joseph Bratseani, an accordion player from San Francisco and Albert Murolo, a drummer from Kentfield, provided music for the children as the folk dancers performed in the school yard.

WE COULD USE WAMPUM IF BOMB HIT BANK

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James A. Rork, Arizona employment service director, suggests Indian smoke signals as the answer should nuclear attack wipe out all modern communications.

Rork made the proposal at an emergency manpower conference of civil defense officials yesterday.

"In Arizona we use smoke signals to reach Hopi Indian firefighters in an emergency," he said. "We burn old automobile tires to make good black smoke."

San Rafael Man Fined For Novato Bar Brawl

Ronald Eugene Smith, 35, of San Rafael, who was arrested after a Novato bar brawl on Nov. 23, drew a $50 fine and one year probation for drunkenness.

He was sentenced Tuesday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court. Smith admitted being drunk but was found innocent of resisting arrest.

Dewey Arnell Rich, 24, of 34 Grove street, San Rafael, who was with Smith at the time, faces a trial for battery. Sheriff's deputies said two Novato construction workers were knocked unconscious in a scuffle with Rich and his companions.

2 Sites Eyed For College In East Bay

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two previously rejected locations emerged today as possible sites for the Southern Alameda County State College, but there still is no final decision.

The state Public Works Board, apparently rejecting the previously selected Salz Ranch, spent most of a three-hour hearing yesterday discussing the Soda and Hauschildt properties. Both were rejected earlier.

A final decision was postponed because of the absence of W. A. Savage, state real estate commissioner and one of the three voting board members.

Glamorous Yule Fashions, Furs Highlight Club's Fashion Show

Planned by ways and means chairman Mrs. Earle Marsh, the affair was chairmaned by Mrs. Stanley Brooks.

Carrying out the bubbles part of the theme, in addition to the champagne, of course, were Christmas ornaments encased in plastic bubbles hung from the chandeliers. Decor, which also included Christmas trees on the side brackets and elaborate gold Christmas-like arrangements on the stage and in the foyer, was done by Mrs. H. C. Kellers and Mrs. Samuel Seifert, assisted by Mesdames T. F. Collison, E. C. Greenland, J. M. Hahn, Yiwen Tang, Marsh and Brooks.

The theme's "Bangles and Beads" appeared on the black leotard costume of Joan Edgerton Grigg, who opened the show with a solo dance.

COMMENTARY

Dr. Earle Marsh did the commentary for the parade of fashions from a Mill Valley dress shop and furs from a programs showing a furry animal in cocktail attire were furnished through courtesy of Curtis Stewart.

Although some sports and other daytime wear were shown, emphasis was on attire appropriate for the holiday season, and the eight models did a nicely paced job of showing the many costumes.

Juse the thing for a Christmas present, or for opening them Christmas morning, were a powder pink gown and peignoir on Mrs. Scott Jones and a frosty blue robe sprinkled with glitter shown by Mrs. Richard Evans.

Mrs. John V. Buckley lent a comedy touch by appearing in towsled sleepy condition for such an occasion, but far from unglamorous in a white quilted mandarin coat.

Mrs. Gerhard Becker was outstanding in an American Beauty satin gown with pink satin back panels, and Mrs. John Sullivan looked smart in a sleek black sheath with black satin bow.

Two of the most glamorous creations were a sequinned champagne satin gown, lovely on Mrs. George Wickham, and a black nylon net with tierred skirt and stole, pretty on Mrs. Leslie Armstrong.

Furs shown separately by the same models ranged from a white fox cape to stoles in every shade of mink; also jackets and coats of various lengths in many furs, including fabulous sables and black orchid mink.

GREETING GUESTS

Many members took advantage of the occasion to entertain guests. Mrs. Delmar Clinton invited Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Oehler. Dr. and Mrs. Marshes' guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Gordon Farnsworth and Arne Anderson and Dr. and Mrs. John Miller.

Guests of the E. W. McGeorges were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Best; Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Mahon brought their daughter Judy; and the M. D. Murphys entertained a large group consisting of Messrs. and Mesdames S. D. Rogers, L. L. Capacity Crowd Attends Novato P-TA Dual Program

A capacity crowd filled the multi-purpose room at the West Novato School Thursday evening when the P-TA presented a dual program consisting of Christmas carols, sung by the fifth and sixth grade Glee Club and a discussion of the county's private and public-health services by two prominent Marin County physicians.

After a short business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Patrick Owens, president, the Glee Club sang traditional Christmas carols, requesting the audience to join in on "Holy Night, Silent Night." Miss Maria Silva directed the performance with accompaniment by Mrs. Jack Hudson.

Mrs. Paul O'Rourke, program chairman, introduced Dr. Earl Siegel, pediatrician, and Dr. Joseph Gutstadt, psychiatrist.

Dr. Siegel spoke on the medical and surgical facilities available in the County, both from a private and public aspect.

Dr. Gutstadt began by stating that facilities for a Mental Health Program in Marin County are inadequate, even as compared to the surrounding counties.

He explained the process in the schools whereby disturbed children are referred to the Guidance Council, who test these children on their intelligence and on their ability to function in the schools.

He held out a bright ray of hope when he informed the audience of a special Mental Health Committee, appointed by the Board of Supervisors last spring to make a survey under the Short-Doyle Health Services Act.

Attendance award was won by Mrs. Beverly Ehreth's fifth grade class.

Refreshments were served by the following sixth grade mothers: Mesdames Joe Quinn, S. H. Barrett, Robert Morse, Paul Richards, Gene Spangler, J. G. Fay, and James Bump.

MR. AND MRS. ALTON Lee Dreke cut the cake following their recent marriage at Stewart Memorial Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo. The bride, the former Dorothy Jeanne Trutter, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz of San Rafael. The bridegroom is in the U.S. Air Force stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Daughter Welcomed By John Donohoes

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. John (Jed) Donohoe on the birth of their first child, a girl, born on Monday at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. The young mother, the former Adrian Diner, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Diner of San Francisco, erstwhile Marin residents. The baby is also the grandchild of George Donohoe of San Francisco and the late Mrs. Donohoe.

The new arrival has been named Laura Marguerite. The first name is for her maternal great grandmother, Mrs. A. D. Barsuglia of Marinwood, until recently a San Anselmo resident. The Marguerite is for the late paternal grandmother. The baby weighed six pounds, six ounces at birth.

Christmas Message Delivered, Music Sung For Business Group

"The history of Christ is as long as mankind itself," stated the Rev. James E. Cain of St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, when he gave the Christmas message at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County Tuesday at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. He told of the promises of Christ's coming and then of the birth of Christ, "the turning place in history."

The cleric pointing out that a child is so helpless, no one can be indifferent to it added "Perhaps he wanted to make it so easy for use to love God." He spoke of Christ as "Humanly divine and divinely human," and said: "He taught the philosophy of life—to know — to love — to serve God." Father Cain said the Magi coming from afar to adore the Christ child, returned a different way as different men. In his conclusion he said: "We come from afar to adore the Child and return a different way. This is the story of Christmas."

The speaker was introduced by Elsie Mazzini, chairman of the meeting. It was begun with the welcome from the president, Eulalie Field, to the large number of members and guests. Helen Meagor led the salute to the flag and Grace Fiscus read the collect.

An international "flavor" was given the meeting by three young guests, Gloria Sun, whose home in China was near Shanghai, a sophomore student at Dominican College; Michiko Sekino of Toyko, Japan, American Field Service exchange student at Sir Francis Drake High School, and Maureen Dockman of Toronto, Canada, also a Dominican College student. She is the niece of Winifred Berger, a BWPC member. The three gave brief talks on Christmas in their countries.

The international theme was intensified by two ' 'geisha girls," (Patricia Austin and Mary Paczowski) who in costume presented "A Christmas Stocking," a musical dialogue.

Community singing was led by Ada Fusselman with Anita Meyer at the piano. The program was concluded with a magnificent performance by the semi-chorus of the Winifred Baker Chorale, directed by Mrs. Baker, assistant professor of music at the Dominican Convent.

The semi-chorus, a 30-voice mixed choir, sang several portions of Handel's "Judas Maccabeus," Then came such old time favorites as "Deck The Halls With Boughs of Holly." The madrigals were "The Silver Swan" and "Sing We And Chant It." Reverent was the singing of "Gloria In Excelsis Deo" and "Silent Night." The delightful performance was concluded with the rollicking "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

At the meeting, Margaret Hedden presented the "Book of Memories" to Dr. Betty Fawcett, who recently resigned as president of the club as she moved to San Jose. Welcomed home after four months in European travel were Margaret (Daisy) Grant, a past president of the club, and her husband, James. A number of other past presidents were introduced also Valerie Ansel, a charter member.

Delegates elected to the meeting of the Redwood Empire District, BPWC to be held in Fortuna Jan. 16 and 17 were Helen Krause, Bettye Wentworth, Dorothy Olsen, a past district president, and Marguerite Terzich. Alternates chosen were Helen Meagor, Mrs. Mazzini, Ella Lossius and Edith Sackrison.

Mrs. Mazzini expressed her thanks to her committee which included Mrs. Sackrison, co-chairman, Mrs. Fiscus and Esther Homiller.

NUPTIAL NOTE IS SOUNDED

Exciting was the news Frances Wayman received at the Christmas dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday. She was called from the room to answer a telephone call from Hawaii.

On her return she announced it was from another BPWC member, Mary Chew, and Sibley Smith who asked Frances to come to their wedding in Honolulu on Saturday and said they would pay all expenses. It was Frances who had introduced the couple and she will be Mary's attendant at the wedding. She will leave by jet tomorrow for Hawaii.

Miss Chew, an assistant treasurer of Northwestern Savings and Loan in San Rafael, is a former resident of Canton, O. She went to Hawaii to meet her fiance, a partner in Rucker-Fuller Co., of San Francisco, on return from a four month's safari in Africa.

A capacity crowd filled the multi-purpose room at the West Novato School Thursday evening when the P-TA presented a dual program consisting of Christmas carols, sung by the fifth and sixth grade Glee Club and a discussion of the county's private and public-health services by two prominent Marin County physicians.

After a short business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Patrick Owens, president, the Glee Club sang traditional Christmas carols, requesting the audience to join in on "Holy Night, Silent Night." Miss Maria Silva directed the performance with accompaniment by Mrs. Jack Hudson.

Mrs. Paul O'Rourke, program chairman, introduced Dr. Earl Siegel, pediatrician, and Dr. Joseph Gutstadt, psychiatrist.

Dr. Siegel spoke on the medical and surgical facilities available in the County, both from a private and public aspect.

Dr. Gutstadt began by stating that facilities for a Mental Health Program in Marin County are inadequate, even as compared to the surrounding counties.

He explained the process in the schools whereby disturbed children are referred to the Guidance Council, who test these children on their intelligence and on their ability to function in the schools.

He held out a bright ray of hope when he informed the audience of a special Mental Health Committee, appointed by the Board of Supervisors last spring to make a survey under the Short-Doyle Health Services Act.

Attendance award was won by Mrs. Beverly Ehreth's fifth grade class.

Refreshments were served by the following sixth grade mothers: Mesdames Joe Quinn, S. H. Barrett, Robert Morse, Paul Richards, Gene Spangler, J. G. Fay, and James Bump.

Christmas Message Delivered, Music Sung For Business Group

"The history of Christ is as long as mankind itself," stated the Rev. James E. Cain of St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, when he gave the Christmas message at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County Tuesday at Rickey's Rancho Rafael. He told of the promises of Christ's coming and then of the birth of Christ, "the turning place in history."

The cleric pointing out that a child is so helpless, no one can be indifferent to it added "Perhaps he wanted to make it so easy for use to love God." He spoke of Christ as "Humanly divine and divinely human," and said: "He taught the philosophy of life—to know — to love — to serve God." Father Cain said the Magi coming from afar to adore the Christ child, returned a different way as different men. In his conclusion he said: "We come from afar to adore the Child and return a different way. This is the story of Christmas."

The speaker was introduced by Elsie Mazzini, chairman of the meeting. It was begun with the welcome from the president, Eulalie Field, to the large number of members and guests. Helen Meagor led the salute to the flag and Grace Fiscus read the collect.

An international "flavor" was given the meeting by three young guests, Gloria Sun, whose home in China was near Shanghai, a sophomore student at Dominican College; Michiko Sekino of Toyko, Japan, American Field Service exchange student at Sir Francis Drake High School, and Maureen Dockman of Toronto, Canada, also a Dominican College student. She is the niece of Winifred Berger, a BWPC member. The three gave brief talks on Christmas in their countries.

The international theme was intensified by two ' 'geisha girls," (Patricia Austin and Mary Paczowski) who in costume presented "A Christmas Stocking," a musical dialogue.

Community singing was led by Ada Fusselman with Anita Meyer at the piano. The program was concluded with a magnificent performance by the semi-chorus of the Winifred Baker Chorale, directed by Mrs. Baker, assistant professor of music at the Dominican Convent.

The semi-chorus, a 30-voice mixed choir, sang several portions of Handel's "Judas Maccabeus," Then came such old time favorites as "Deck The Halls With Boughs of Holly." The madrigals were "The Silver Swan" and "Sing We And Chant It." Reverent was the singing of "Gloria In Excelsis Deo" and "Silent Night." The delightful performance was concluded with the rollicking "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

At the meeting, Margaret Hedden presented the "Book of Memories" to Dr. Betty Fawcett, who recently resigned as president of the club as she moved to San Jose. Welcomed home after four months in European travel were Margaret (Daisy) Grant, a past president of the club, and her husband, James. A number of other past presidents were introduced also Valerie Ansel, a charter member.

Delegates elected to the meeting of the Redwood Empire District, BPWC to be held in Fortuna Jan. 16 and 17 were Helen Krause, Bettye Wentworth, Dorothy Olsen, a past district president, and Marguerite Terzich. Alternates chosen were Helen Meagor, Mrs. Mazzini, Ella Lossius and Edith Sackrison.

Mrs. Mazzini expressed her thanks to her committee which included Mrs. Sackrison, co-chairman, Mrs. Fiscus and Esther Homiller.

MR. AND MRS. ALTON Lee Dreke cut the cake following their recent marriage at Stewart Memorial Chapel of the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo. The bride, the former Dorothy Jeanne Trutter, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz of San Rafael. The bridegroom is in the U.S. Air Force stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

NUPTIAL NOTE IS SOUNDED

Exciting was the news Frances Wayman received at the Christmas dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday. She was called from the room to answer a telephone call from Hawaii.

On her return she announced it was from another BPWC member, Mary Chew, and Sibley Smith who asked Frances to come to their wedding in Honolulu on Saturday and said they would pay all expenses. It was Frances who had introduced the couple and she will be Mary's attendant at the wedding. She will leave by jet tomorrow for Hawaii.

Miss Chew, an assistant treasurer of Northwestern Savings and Loan in San Rafael, is a former resident of Canton, O. She went to Hawaii to meet her fiance, a partner in Rucker-Fuller Co., of San Francisco, on return from a four month's safari in Africa.

Daughter Welcomed By John Donohoes

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. John (Jed) Donohoe on the birth of their first child, a girl, born on Monday at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. The young mother, the former Adrian Diner, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Diner of San Francisco, erstwhile Marin residents. The baby is also the grandchild of George Donohoe of San Francisco and the late Mrs. Donohoe.

The new arrival has been named Laura Marguerite. The first name is for her maternal great grandmother, Mrs. A. D. Barsuglia of Marinwood, until recently a San Anselmo resident. The Marguérite is for the late paternal grandmother. The baby weighed six pounds, six ounces at birth.

Focus Show Glitters With Holiday Styles

And sparkle your Merry way
Be happy, relaxed and joyous

That such a holiday prescription is easy to blend was delightfully proven on Tuesday at Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon when the American Association of University Women and its fellowship group in particular stepped into the holiday spotlight.

A festive smorgasbord with lighted tapers and holiday greens, lighted tree and carols by the St. Nicholas Boys Choir were accent touches that added a "Merry Christmas" touch as each of the glamour AAUW models promenaded in late day fashions.

Not just at Christmas, but the year round is the fellowship program of the AAUW which enables graduate students to study for advanced degrees in specialized fields at universities and college at home and abroad.

"Have a Gala, Glamourous Holiday."

"Christmas Tree Trimmer," Mrs. Donald Baird in black velveteen tapers, black scooped neck blouse, the two trimmed with gold embroidery and the tiny waist cinched with a gold leather belt.

"New Year's Eve," Old acquaintances—or new ones — wouldn't forget Mrs. Robert Setrakian sheathed in champagne satin, and an enveloping stole of matching champagne satin lined with American beauty.

Next Tuesday "Fashion Focus" says "Make Mine A Country Christmas." Echoing the sentiments will be the Ross Hospital Volunteers and the Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority with "Merry Christmas" fashions and gifts for a holiday at home by a Kentfield shop. Reservations may be made for the 12:30 luncheon by calling Rickey's.

Hub City Opens Bids On Firehouse Dec. 29

Bids for construction of San Anselmo's installment plan firehouse will be opened at 4 p.m., Dec. 29 in the office of Lawrence E. Wright, attorney at 368 San Anselmo avenue. Latest cost estimate is $63,000.

Officers of the San Anselmo Fire Station Building Corp. will open the bids. They are John C. Phillips, president; Walter W. Carter, vice president, and A. N. Nipper, secretary-treasurer.

Heading a legal but slightly fantastic non-profit corporation with a probable 20-year life expectancy and no salaries, they decided their offices by drawing lots. Phillips is a tree surgeon, Carter an insurance broker and Nipper a realty broker.

The idea is for their corporation to build a two-engine fire station financed by bond issue and lease it to the City of San Anselmo.

Having leased land for the station from the city at Arroyo avenue and Butterfield road, the corporation will stay in business just for the period of the lease, 20 or possibly 30 years, after which it will hand back the land with the fire station on it and quietly expire.

"Santa Cruz got its courthouse under this lease-option plan so it ought to work here if all goes right," said Wright. "However, it's a complex deal and things could go wrong."

Elaborate legal horseplay is necessitated by the plan, Wright explained. First, assuming that a suitable construction bid is received and accepted, the corporation will present a lease to the city council.

Presuming that the council approves the lease, it will ask Mayor Arthur W. Smith to sign it. Smith will refuse to do so until a court has ordered him to. Then Marin Superior Court will consider the matter and if it finds all well and comes through with the desired order there must still elapse a 60-day appeal period.

This is likely to bring procedure to the month of March, it is estimated. Assuming that Mayor Smith then signs the lease, the corporation will direct its contractor to proceed. Plans are that construction is to get under way not later than July 1.

Full title will be held by the corporation, which will collect rent from the city but will first obtain its financing through an eastern specialist firm, Hanauer and Co., which will furnish necessary legal papers, put up the money and promptly receive the monthly rental.

Though the fire station corporation won't make a thin dime, Hanauer will get a profit by acting as broker for the bonds, and the bond buyers will receive interest aggregating enough approximately to double the cost of the firehouse. San Anselmo has already condemned the site property and paid $13,500 to the former owners, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Sapp.

But the city doesn't have available cash, and if it did such cash tied up in a firehouse would be losing the interest it could earn elsewhere.

CITY IN BIND

Even in the matter of rent, a slightly fictitious word in this connection since cost of site and construction must ultimately be repaid through these payments, the city is in a slight bind. It is legally restricted to payment of just a fair rental; thus it can't commit itself to an especially high figure if that money is deemed available.

How the bids come out will affect the rent figure in view of the point that the fire station corporation must pass Hanauer enough money to cover everything.

As with an individual buying a car, a short term of payments has advantages but there will have to be calculations as to how much "rent" can be paid as against what total pay-off must aggregate. Twenty years may suffice, it's hoped.

The "option" part of the deal will be that the city may complete purchase ahead of term, if it so wishes and has the money.

Plans for the firehouse have been prepared by the firm of Malone and Hooper, headed by Adrian H. Malone of San Anselmo and Roger F. Hooper of Ross.

Working Moms Defen

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (UPI) — A U.S. Labor Department official disagrees with the theory that working mothers are a major cause of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Alice K. Leonard, director of the department's Women's Bureau, said in fact that they are good planners and good organizers, able to take good care of their children.

Santa Getting Some Mighty Odd Requests

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two thousand notes to Santa Claus were opened at New York's General Post Office this week. Several, such as one signed "Inicent Divorcy" and postmarked in German, attracted particular attention.

Postmaster Robert K. Christenberry thought Santa might have difficulty fulfilling the request of "Inicent Divorcy," who wrote:

"To Santa Claus, USA:

"I am not a child anymore. But I have the wish of a child, namely to come to America with my four children. The youngest is 10 months, it's a boy, and then two girls, three and five, and a boy, six.

"I wish to marry some good, fine American.

Another writer told of being "a very, very good boy," advised Santa that "I don't think you're real anyway," but asked for a train, a dog and a pet fish before concluding, "if you do not, I will get you."

Christenberry also noted requests for a "huckleberry hound" and "a shootin' shell showdown gun." He said most of the letters were from the New York area but that some came from such countries as England, France and Cuba.

NOVATAN COMPLAINS

Teachers' Residence, 'Book Fair' Assailed

Paul Brindel of 133 Maestro road demanded the board do something about the large number of teachers in the district who do not live in the Novato area.

He also complained that the Parent-Teacher Assn.-sponsored "Book Fair" last Friday and Saturday at Novato High School was a "private business enterprise" although billed as a P-TA benefit.

Books ordered at the fair were to be picked up and paid for at the B. F. Edwards Stationery store in Novato.

He told the board he had presented his charges to the Marin County Grand Jury and was demanding an investigation.

On the matter of teachers living in the area, Supt. William J. J. Smith said there was no law requiring teachers to live in the district in which they taught.

Board members, claimed no "profits" were earmarked for Edwards from the book sale. Any dividends from the sale of books were to go to the P-TA.

John Gallas, district librarian, said no religious books of any denomination were included in the fair on advice of the library committee.

"I will be perfectly willing to open my books in this matter to the grand jury," said Edwards, owner of Novato's only book and stationery store.

Tam Graduate To Return As Leader Of Visiting Choir

A former Tamalpais High School student will return to his alma mater tomorrow afternoon from Brownwood, Tex., bringing with him the Payne College choir, of which he is director.

The choir is on a tour of Southwestern Texas. In Marin, the choir will perform at 9:50 a.m. at the Golden Gate Seminary in Strawberry, at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Sausalito, and at the Tam assembly at 2 p.m.

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

We Want No Powerful, Secret Agencies In Marin

After two years of study, the Marin County Committee on Racial Discrimination has suggested to the Board of Supervisors that an ordinance be passed "appropriate to the specific needs of the county" for curbing racial discrimination here.

The proposal is that a conciliation commission and an arbitration board be set up to hear any charges of discrimination in public or private housing. The arbitration board would have the power of subpoena and both the board and the commission would operate in secret, or, as the committee stated in its "suggested ordinance," proceedings of the two groups "shall be confidential." The committee chairman in his report to the supervisors called it "executive session."

We of the Independent-Journal have always prided ourselves on standing up for the minority groups and on fighting discrimination. Yet we can not stand back and see other freedoms we value destroyed.

Perhaps it is appropriate to review the California Government Code, section 54950 of it, known as the Brown Act. This is what it says:

"54950. In enacting this chapter (the Brown Act), the Legislature finds and declares that the public commissions, boards and councils and the other public agencies in this State exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business. It is the intent of the law that their actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly.

"The people of this State do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them. The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments which they have created."

How could the people of Marin possibly retain control over these two appointed agencies if all of their activities were done in secret? The supervisors can't so meet. For that matter the supervisors can't subpoena witnesses either. Yet the ordinance would give such powers to their appointees.

We're sorry the racial discrimination committee didn't study the problem a little longer. We doubt that they sought or received legal advice in drawing up the proposal, for to us it seems certain sections of it are unconstitutional.

But unconstitutional or not, we certainly want no part of powerful, secret agencies working in Marin County.

NURSES URGENTLY NEEDED

Less than 40 registered nurses were available to care for the 447,000 outpatients treated in all their clinics last year. One official, commenting on the scarcity of laboratory, X-ray, social service and clerical workers, said: "We are overwhelmed. We don't know where to turn."

You can have a part in solving this growing problem. Point out the pressing need for devoted nurses and see that they are provided with adequate salaries and favorable working conditions.

The nurse shortage is one more symptom of a trend towards the self-centeredness that makes service to others a forgotten virtue. Do whatever you can to resore a Christ-like love for the sick.

"I was sick and you visited Me."

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

At the recent hearing of the County Personnel Board on the discharge of a nurse at the County Farm which I audited, a number of unpleasant condition were brought to light. Through the efforts of the superintendent, it appears that several improvements have been made in the operation of the hospital and infirmary during the past two years. Improvements that were long overdue and that could have been achieved much earlier had the Board of Supervisors taken an adequate interest — budgetwise and otherwise.

The supervisors have had many other problems confronting them and they are to be commended for finally bringing to Marin County a much needed Civic Center. But certainly the care and treatment of our less fortunate elder citizens is a concern of first importance.

My personal observations over 40 years residence and many years of service in Marin County, indicate that the Board of Supervisors had never given sufficient attention to the problems of the county farm facilites. Specifically, it is my hope that the board members will be in the future, acquaint themselves personally with conditions at the Farm and give the superintendent firm support.

Some matters in which much improvement is still needed include a pleasant and healthful diet which is so vital to the physical and mental well being — also expanded recreational and rehabilitation activities. It is also the bounden duty of the board, through the medical department, to see that the medical services are always provided with the necessary empathy and understanding.

It is not my intention to make anything but constructive comment because we do have a good facility as far as we have gone.

San Rafael Needs Civic Interest Club

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Before moving to San Rafael we were located in Atherton, and I must confess we enjoyed the peninsula in many ways as compared to Marin. I presume that Marin County is suffering from growing pains, similar to San Mateo County when we first moved down there in 1942.

One think that we had in Atherton that I think was very helpful, and which could be just as helpful over here was an organization known as the Civic Interest League of Atherton. We had a board of directors, of which I was a member, and very many things of civic interest were discussed, and brought to the attention of the City Council, with whom we worked very co-operatively.

San Rafael surely needs something similar to this, as there seems to be so very many things necessary for the improvement of Marin County

There's News Of The Old Home Town In I-J Even If It's Peking, China

But the I.-J. was bringer of news about a former prominent fellow-Pekingite the other day, a chap by the name of Henry Pu-Yi.

Henry and I were not really pally, but as a newsman I couldn't help knowing more or less about him; mostly, at the outset, about his skill as a bike rider.

HENRY WAS a young man without much to do and a lot of room to do it in, namely the north half of Peking's storied Purple Forbidden City where he was the only male occupant.

Let's get it straight, by the way, that when I write "Peking" that's what I mean and not "Peiping." The latter word applied only between 1928 and 1949, and I'm talking of 1925 when Peking was just what the name means — China's Northern Capital.

When Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalists moved the capital to Nanking (Southern Capital) they re-named Peking for about the tenth time and called it Peiping meaning "Northern Peace." Earlier names of centuries back included Yen, Chi and Khanbulik, this last during the days of Kubla Khan.

When Communists took over all China in 1949, they moved both capital and name back up north. Today the town is Peking within China, but try and get any American news editor to believe it!

BUT TO GET ON about Henry. His real name was Emperor Hsuan Tung, last of the Manchu Dynasty with the reigning title Pu-Yi.

This sounded mighty fancy, but the Manchus got whittled down to size with the revolution of 1912 and the "Boy Emperor," as Hsuan Tung was popularly known, was virtually a prisoner. He was supposed to get a pension from the republic, but couldn't collect regularly. He had two wives, neither of whom interested him much; he had a lot of empty halls and stone court yards and lanes within the northern half of the imperial precincts, as guaranteed to him by abdication agreement.

And he had a bicycle, which he was reputed to ride almost continuously though never out on the public streets.

ONLY HIS WIVES, his women servants and the aging imperial eunuchs ever saw him.

When I reached Peking in 1924 I visited the southern half of the Forbidden City, an amazing impressive series of grand buildings and open courtyards and towering gates including a museum. The public could go there, but the northern half of this moat-girded area was all his; about half a mile by a mile inside, and no traffic whatever but Henry.

One of the two empresses was tutored by a woman I knew, and gossip got out. We heard the emperor liked to be called "Henry" because it seemed to him foreign, an exciting whiff of air from the world outside.

Everybody felt sorry for the young chap and never more so than when the so-called "Christian General" Feng Yu-shan pulled a coup d'etat, took over the city, and chased Hanry and his brides into the shelter of the Japanese Legation. Later they sneaked off to the Japanese Consulate in nearby Tientsin, where Henry got another bike, used in less space.

IN 1933, THROUGH no merit or fault of his own, Henry got to be an emperor again, but again in name only. The Japanese sent him north into Manchuria to be a shadow ruler of their puppet state of Manchukuo. He got a new name out of it — "Emperor Kang Teh"—and nothing else but trouble.

World War II resulted in Japan's loss of Manchukuo and Henry went into clink as a war criminal. This was pretty silly, just as Henry himself was deeply pathetic.

NOW COMES the I.-J. item. I read that the Chinese Communists have pardoned Henry at long last. He's allegedly "repented" what he never knew.

Probably they figured it would be a good idea to put him back into circulation again as part of the manpower they say they need. Well, I have a constructive idea.

If they really want to get mileage out of gentle, simple Henry, they should build him a bicycle and give him a job as telegraph messenger. By this time he may not be very fast, but unless things have improved since my day, he'll be just as fast as the Chinese telegraph system.

Khrushchev Had Reason To Be Touchy About 'Captive Nations'

It is now becoming clear why Premier Khrushchev was so inordinately touchy about the "captive nations" resolution which Congress passed on the eve of Vice President Nixon's trip to Russia earlier this year.

You will recall that Mr. K. talked about it on every occasion, as if he couldn't get it off his mind. Why was Mr. Khrushchev so sensitive over an expression of opinion by Congress which simply said that we did not accept Soviet domination of the nations of Eastern Europe as unalterable?

The answer is beginning to come out at the Hungarian Communiist Party Congress in Budapest. It adds up to one conclusion: that the Kremlin has been genuinely worried about the stability of the Hungarian Communist regime which it was able to save three years ago only with Soviet troops and tanks.

Thirty-six months after the Hungarian revolution, the Soviet forces still must occupy Hungary to keep its unpopular and unwanted regime in power. And the Hungarian Communist leader, Janos Kadar, with Khrushchev listening attentively, "assures" the Hungarian people that Russian troops would remain in Hungary as long as needed.

Kadar could not bring himself to speak the truth. He blandly explained that they were needed to deal with threats from outside Hungary.

MR. K. DID NOT stoop to these little dishonesties. He said frankly that "external forces" — like those of western "imperialists" — "do not constitute any danger to the Communist camp" because, he added "our strength is greater than theirs."

If external forces, from which Mr. K. says there is no longer any danger, do not require Soviet occupation of Hungary, then it must be internal forces which require it. And that is frankly the fact.

Soviet military intervention in Hungary continues unabated. It is so visible in every aspect of the nation's life today that Hungary can only be described as a Soviet military protectorate and, knowing how poorly he himself stands with the Hungarian people, Kadar made it clear it would remain so for the indefinite future.

KHRUSHCHEV IS at his bluntest best in explaining to the Budapest Congress that Moscow's armed intervention in 1956 was comparable to armed intervention by Tsar Nicholas I to put down the Hungarian uprising in 1848 which was aimed at freeing Hungary from the feudal control of the Austrain emperor.

If the editors of "Pravda" will go back over their own pages they will find that the time was when the Soviet Communists berated the 1848 intervention as a reactionary aggression against the Hungarian peoples' efforts to throw off the yoke of imperialism.

It seems to me that Mr. K's comparison is absolutely accurate, that he and Tsar Nicholas I did exactly the same thing for the same purpose under the same circumstances.

But I thought you might need some help in making out your list for other people. So here are some suggestions on what you might bring some well-known names or institutions in the news:

Sen. John F. Kennedy — A crew cut.

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

Marin's Board of Supervisors was asked by a Corte Madera woman to do something about a huge gas storage tank in Contra Costa County, as it "dwarfs surrounding hills" and otherwise spoiled the view from Marin. Chairman T. Fred Bagshaw ordered a letter sent to explain that some things, including this, were beyond the powers of the Marin supervisors.

A monorail line to Marin County from San Francisco was scheduled to be among seven lines of an overhead rapid transit system supposed to get under way within a year, but it was indicated that Marin "probably will not be among the first built." George D. Roberts, president of the Los Angeles Monorail Engineering and Construction Co., said he was negotiating with eastern banking interests in a project not costing less than $20 million dollars for the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas.

20 YEARS AGO

A new $125,000 barracks was completed at Hamilton Field to provide housing for 600 men.

The county grand jury recommended that the five road districts in Marin be consolidated in the interests of economy. Several earlier grand juries had made the same recommendation. The grand jury also took occasion to rap the courthouse and county jail as "relics of horse and buggy days."

"I can't very well return it," she replied happily, "because its the one I've been wearing for two years. But since you dislike it so, I'll buy a new one tomorrow."

Cause for justifiable assault: A stock-and-bond man came to a party as a horse. His host met him at the door, whirled him around, gave a yank to his tail and boomed at the top of his lungs, "Hey, Wilkins, what's the big idea? This is a costume party. You were suppose to come in disguise."

A Hollywood pedestrian ran into director Mike Curtiz on Vine street, slapped him on the back, and cried, "Hello there, stranger." "What do you mean, 'stranger'?" reacted Curtiz angrily. "I dont even know you!"

Lou Calhern, late Broadway and Hollywood star, often reassured young actors, "The best of us have blundered. Don't let a mistake throw you. SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

We Want No Powerful, Secret Agencies In Marin

After two years of study, the Marin County Committee on Racial Discrimination has suggested to the Board of Supervisors that an ordinance be passed "appropriate to the specific needs of the county" for curbing racial discrimination here.

The proposal is that a conciliation commission and an arbitration board be set up to hear any charges of discrimination in public or private housing. The arbitration board would have the power of subpoena and both the board and the commission would operate in secret, or, as the committee stated in its "suggested ordinance," proceedings of the two groups "shall be confidential." The committee chairman in his report to the supervisors called it "executive session."

We of the Independent-Journal have always prided ourselves on standing up for the minority groups and on fighting discrimination. Yet we can not stand back and see other freedoms we value destroyed.

Perhaps it is appropriate to review the California Government Code, section 54950 of it, known as the Brown Act. This is what it says:

"54950. In enacting this chapter (the Brown Act), the Legislature finds and declares that the public commissions, boards and councils and the other public agencies in this State exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business. It is the intent of the law that their actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly.

"The people of this State do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them. The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments which they have created."

How could the people of Marin possibly retain control over these two appointed agencies if all of their activities were done in secret? The supervisors can't so meet. For that matter the supervisors can't subpoena witnesses either. Yet the ordinance would give such powers to their appointees.

We're sorry the racial discrimination committee didn't study the problem a little longer. We doubt that they sought or received legal advice in drawing up the proposal, for to us it seems certain sections of it are unconstitutional.

But unconstitutional or not, we certainly want no part of powerful, secret agencies working in Marin County.

World War II resulted in Japan's loss of Manchukuo and Henry went into clink as a war criminal. This was pretty silly, just as Henry himself was deeply pathetic.

NOW COMES the I.-J. item. I read that the Chinese Communists have pardoned Henry at long last. He's allegedly "repented" what he never knew.

Probably they figured it would be a good idea to put him back into circulation again as part of the manpower they say they need. Well, I have a constructive idea.

If they really want to get mileage out of gentle, simple Henry, they should build him a bicycle and give him a job as telegraph messenger. By this time he may not be very fast, but unless things have improved since my day, he'll be just as fast as the Chinese telegraph system.

Don't Punish Your Baby; He's Not Capable Of Serious Wrong

Your baby knows how you feel about him. Shall we look at your baby today?

Do you love your little one? Are you glad he was born? Do you enjoy being with him? Then he knows it. He's glad you feel that way. It means he is safe in the world.

But if you don't love him, he knows that too. He senses your rejection. He's unhappy and afraid.

Show your love. Don't be afraid to cuddle your baby. Sing to him, talk to him and laugh with him. Let him enjoy your affection.

I've been checking some new studies of baby feeding. Bottle feeding still comes out second to breast feeding. The difference is not in the milk. It is in the communion between mothers and babies during mealtime.

Do you have a bottle baby? Then be sure to hold him while he eats. Make him cozy and comfortable. He'll get along. Over half our babies are bottle fed nowadays.

Later your child will need discipline. He'll need to be taught the difference between right and wrong. He'll be naughty. You'll want to be sure he doesn't repeat his mistakes. If you don't discipline him you'll regret it. A 3-year-old can be spoiled quickly.

But don't punish your baby. He is not capable of doing anything seriously wrong. He can't learn the lessons you try to teach through punishment.

Let him call the signals while he's tiny. At that stage there is no substitute for your love and constant care.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 10th, the 344th day of the year, with 21 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Venus.

On this date in history:

In 1830, American poetess Emily Dickinson was born.

In 1898, Spain signed a treaty officially ending the Spanish-American War and ceded to the United States the Philippines, Puerto Rico and Guam.

In 1941, Japanese planes sank the British battleships "Repulse" and "Prince of Wales" in the South China Sea.

A thought for today: American poetess Emily Dickinson said: "If I can stop one heart from breaking, I shall not have lived in vain."

Savings-Loan Boards Eye Interest Rate

Directors of three Marin savings and loan associations, uncertain as to interest rates which will prevail in the Bay Area next year, plan meetings later this month to discuss rates.

Ross Valley Savings and Loan directors have not set a meeting date. Sausalito Savings and Loan directors have scheduled a meeting for Dec. 22 and plan to hold intermediate discussions.

Marin County Savings and Loan met Dec. 1 and directors of Northwestern Savings and Loan are to meet Dec. 21.

All seem agreed that interest to be paid from the first of the year will be raised from 4 to at least 4¼ per cent, following the lead of similar companies in San Francisco. Uncertainty has developed due to prospects that a 4½ per cent rate may be paid in Los Angeles, with decision to be made in San Francisco as to whether to match this.

Girl Scout Group Plans Yule Carols

One hundred fifteen Girl Scouts from the Hub City will sing Christmas carols on Dec. 18, starting at the San Anselmo City Hall at 4:30 p.m.

The choristers will appear at Cedars Development School at 5:30 p.m., Marin General Hospital at 6:15 p.m., Ross General Hospital at 6:45 p.m. and the Sisters of the Holy Names, 46 Mariposa avenue, San Anselmo, at 7:30 p.m.

Those interested in hearing the girls sing are requested by Mrs. D. W. Richardson, general chairman, to attend the 4:30 p.m. performance at city hall or the 7:30 p.m. one at the Sisters of the Holy Names.

Compressor Will Boost Gas Supply

A two-unit compressor being installed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in the North Bay area will boost the amount of natural gas transmitted to San Rafael, Mill Valley and Sausalito.

The 1,320 horsepower compressor, being built at Serpa Junction, is a result of customer growth and increased use of natural gas for commercial, industrial and domestic needs said E. S. Day, North Bay division manager.

The $600,000 unit will be ready for initial service later this month, he said.

Don't Punish Your Baby; He's Not Capable Of Serious Wrong

Your baby knows how you feel about him. Shall we look at your baby today?

Do you love your little one? Are you glad he was born? Do you enjoy being with him? Then he knows it. He's glad you feel that way. It means he is safe in the world.

But if you don't love him, he knows that too. He senses your rejection. He's unhappy and afraid.

Show your love. Don't be afraid to cuddle your baby. Sing to him, talk to him and laugh with him. Let him enjoy your affection.

I've been checking some new studies of baby feeding. Bottle feeding still comes out second to breast feeding. The difference is not in the milk. It is in the communion between mothers and babies during mealtime.

Do you have a bottle baby? Then be sure to hold him while he eats. Make him cozy and comfortable. He'll get along. Over half our babies are bottle fed nowadays.

Later your child will need discipline. He'll need to be taught the difference between right and wrong. He'll be naughty. You'll want to be sure he doesn't repeat his mistakes. If you don't discipline him you'll regret it. A 3-year-old can be spoiled quickly.

But don't punish your baby. He is not capable of doing anything seriously wrong. He can't learn the lessons you try to teach through punishment.

Let him call the signals while he's tiny. At that stage there is no substitute for your love and constant care.

Savings-Loan Boards Eye Interest Rate

Directors of three Marin savings and loan associations, uncertain as to interest rates which will prevail in the Bay Area next year, plan meetings later this month to discuss rates.

Ross Valley Savings and Loan directors have not set a meeting date. Sausalito Savings and Loan directors have scheduled a meeting for Dec. 22 and plan to hold intermediate discussions.

Marin County Savings and Loan met Dec. 1 and directors of Northwestern Savings and Loan are to meet Dec. 21.

All seem agreed that interest to be paid from the first of the year will be raised from 4 to at least 4¼ per cent, following the lead of similar companies in San Francisco. Uncertainty has developed due to prospects that a 4½ per cent rate may be paid in Los Angeles, with decision to be made in San Francisco as to whether to match this.

Girl Scout Group Plans Yule Carols

One hundred fifteen Girl Scouts from the Hub City will sing Christmas carols on Dec. 18, starting at the San Anselmo City Hall at 4:30 p.m.

The choristers will appear at Cedars Development School at 5:30 p.m., Marin General Hospital at 6:15 p.m., Ross General Hospital at 6:45 p.m. and the Sisters of the Holy Names, 46 Mariposa avenue, San Anselmo, at 7:30 p.m.

Those interested in hearing the girls sing are requested by Mrs. D. W. Richardson, general chairman, to attend the 4:30 p.m. performance at city hall or the 7:30 p.m. one at the Sisters of the Holy Names.

Compressor Will Boost Gas Supply

A two-unit compressor being installed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in the North Bay area will boost the amount of natural gas transmitted to San Rafael, Mill Valley and Sausalito.

The 1,320 horsepower compressor, being built at Serpa Junction, is a result of customer growth and increased use of natural gas for commercial, industrial and domestic needs said E. S. Day, North Bay division manager.

The $600,000 unit will be ready for initial service later this month, he said.

Christmas Carols Set Tomorrow In Sausalito Park

Persons wishing to hear Christmas carols in the city park at Sausalito, will get to hear them a little earlier than expected.

The singers will be in the park at 7:00 p.m. tomorrow, not next Monday as previously announced. Persons who announced the wrong time say their faces are redder than a Santa Claus suit.

The singers will include Cub Scouts, Brownies and junior choirs from Christ Church Episcopal and the First Presbyterian Church in Sausalito and from Baptist Church of Marin City. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Frank Rossman, Christ Church organist.

Watchmaking Becoming A Lost Art

The Bradley School of Horology will shut its doors in June, 1961. It is the oldest in the nation. The Elgin School at Elgin, Ill., will close next March 1.

The closing of the Illinois schools will leave only one watchmaking school in the nation, according to George J. Wild, dean of horology at Bradley. He said the Bowman School at Lancaster, Pa., will be the only one left.

REPAIRS SLOW

Wild told the United Press International, "It will take people longer to get a watch fixed, the way it was during the war."

Wild made this comment in the light of knowledge about the function of horology schools during war and peacetime defense programs.

"The school was doing a big job toward defense," he said. "As nearly as I could estimate, 1,200 of our students were in temporary civil service during World War II, serving as mechanics on fine mechanisms of all kinds—time measuring and precision instruments."

SINCE 1886

The president of Bradley recently made the announcement that the horology school would close after turning out more than 11,000 craftsmen in the watchmaking and jewelry trades. It was founded in 1886 in La Porte, Ind.

The school came here in 1892 when Mrs. Lydia Moss Bradley bought it out lock, stock and jewel and transported it to the campus on a chartered train.

During World War I, the school and its instructors were utilized by the Army School of Mechanics for lens grinding, gunsmithing and precision work, mostly for the Air Corps.

FEW STUDENTS

Bradley President Dr. Harold P. Rodes said the school would close because of a gradual decline in students. Wild added that "the university has outgrown us. They can use the facilities in a bigger way for their academic work."

Wild acknowledged that the students just aren't coming in anymore in spite of what he said was a great demand for such tradesmen. "I could place 100 today if I had them," he said.

Looking back over the years of turning out top tradesmen and watching the watch industry change, Wild made this observation:

"The advance in horological science has been tremendous. Hamilton is producing an electrical watch. The automatic self-wind watch is a marvelous achievement."

PARADOX

He also made this paradoxical comment, "A fine watch costs less today, but cheap ones cost more."

Wild said that during the postwar period, the school turned away nearly 17,000 students. But it all changed when the wave of career-seeking veterans subsided.

A spokesman for the Elgin School told the UPI enrollment has dropped from 275 right after the war to 40 students. He said many high schools and vocational schools are teaching instrumentation, however, and there should be no shortage of craftsmen.

Annual Greenbrae Yule Decorations Contest Planned

Outdoor displays and window displays visible from the street will be judged Dec. 21 from 7 to 10 p.m. By Mrs. Rose Flack, Mrs. Ester McDonald, John M. Lee and Gunnar Anderson.

Judging will be based on originality and artistic accom- "The Spirit of Christmas." Eight cash prizes totaling $150 have been donated by Schultz Investment Co. and 13 additional prizes by merchants of Bon Air Shopping Center.

DROPS IN FOR MEAL

A sea elephant rises out of its pool enclosure to join a "sea bear" — a northern fur seal—for a herring meal at the Cologne zoo in West Germany.

CAN TAKE IT

Navy Still Has Sense Of Humor

The Navy, it seems, has a sense of humor and can take a bit of kidding.

Jean Ramond Conriche of San Anselmo found that out when he penned a letter to his son's chaplain, asking him to straighten out a "snafu."

A few days after Ronald Jean Conriche was inducted into the Navy, his father received a form letter informing him that he (the father) was now a "boot" in training at the Navy Training Station in San Diego.

Conriche wrote the chaplain, humorously, that he could pass the spiritual, moral and mental standards required by the Navy, but at age 54, they would have to accept his golf handicap instead of a physical.

Replied the chaplain in the same humorous vein: "I am happy to tell you that our records show we do have your son in the Navy, and by his own name. Now you can breathe easily and without fear of being picked up by the Shore Patrol for being 'over-the-hill,' or desertion.

"In a way, I'm sorry we can't keep you though, because we need people with fine senses of humor and high golf scores."

—Conrich is owner of Jean's Bit O'Bohemia in San Anselmo.

Old Chinese Temple A Weaverville Landmark

WEAVERVILLE (AP) — Inside the "Temple of the Forest and the Clouds" you'll find unique mementos of early California.

The pagoda-like building, also known as the Joss House, was built near the Trinity Alps in Weaverville shortly after the discovery of gold brought nearly 2,500 Chinese to the area.

Burned down in 1873, the temple was immediately rebuilt and except for some exterior decoration has withstood the test of time well.

It houses many carvings, banners, tapestries and paintings shipped from China to San Francisco, then to Colusa by river steamer and on to Weaverville by mule.

Other fixtures were made by local craftsmen, applying the arts they learned in China.

Although the interior is in almost the same condition found there 86 years ago, the state has had to do something to meet steady deterioration on the outside.

On the waiting room wall there's a half-inch thick, 19-inch-wide and 16-foot-long board on which is written the names of the hundreds of Chinese who helped build the temple nearly a century ago.

Christmas Carols Set Tomorrow In Sausalito Park

Persons wishing to hear Christmas carols in the city park at Sausalito, will get to hear them a little earlier than expected.

The singers will be in the park at 7:00 p.m. tomorrow, not next Monday as previously announced. Persons who announced the wrong time say their faces are redder than a Santa Claus suit.

The singers will include Cub Scouts, Brownies and junior choirs from Christ Church Episcopal and the First Presbyterian Church in Sausalito and from Baptist Church of Marin City. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Frank Rossman, Christ Church organist.

Annual Greenbrae Yule Decorations Contest Planned

Outdoor displays and window displays visible from the street will be judged Dec. 21 from 7 to 10 p.m. By Mrs. Rose Flack, Mrs. Ester McDonald, John M. Lee and Gunnar Anderson.

Judging will be based on originality and artistic accom- "The Spirit of Christmas." Eight cash prizes totaling $150 have been donated by Schultz Investment Co. and 13 additional prizes by merchants of Bon Air Shopping Center.

Watchmaking Becoming A Lost Art

The Bradley School of Horology will shut its doors in June, 1961. It is the oldest in the nation. The Elgin School at Elgin, Ill., will close next March 1.

The closing of the Illinois schools will leave only one watchmaking school in the nation, according to George J. Wild, dean of horology at Bradley. He said the Bowman School at Lancaster, Pa., will be the only one left.

REPAIRS SLOW

Wild told the United Press International, "It will take people longer to get a watch fixed, the way it was during the war."

Wild made this comment in the light of knowledge about the function of horology schools during war and peacetime defense programs.

"The school was doing a big job toward defense," he said. "As nearly as I could estimate, 1,200 of our students were in temporary civil service during World War II, serving as mechanics on fine mechanisms of all kinds—time measuring and precision instruments."

SINCE 1886

The president of Bradley recently made the announcement that the horology school would close after turning out more than 11,000 craftsmen in the watchmaking and jewelry trades. It was founded in 1886 in La Porte, Ind.

The school came here in 1892 when Mrs. Lydia Moss Bradley bought it out lock, stock and jewel and transported it to the campus on a chartered train.

During World War I, the school and its instructors were utilized by the Army School of Mechanics for lens grinding, gunsmithing and precision work, mostly for the Air Corps.

FEW STUDENTS

Bradley President Dr. Harold P. Rodes said the school would close because of a gradual decline in students. Wild added that "the university has outgrown us. They can use the facilities in a bigger way for their academic work."

Wild acknowledged that the students just aren't coming in anymore in spite of what he said was a great demand for such tradesmen. "I could place 100 today if I had them," he said.

Looking back over the years of turning out top tradesmen and watching the watch industry change, Wild made this observation:

"The advance in horological science has been tremendous. Hamilton is producing an electrical watch. The automatic self-wind watch is a marvelous achievement."

PARADOX

He also made this paradoxical comment, "A fine watch costs less today, but cheap ones cost more."

Wild said that during the postwar period, the school turned away nearly 17,000 students. But it all changed when the wave of career-seeking veterans subsided.

A spokesman for the Elgin School told the UPI enrollment has dropped from 275 right after the war to 40 students. He said many high schools and vocational schools are teaching instrumentation, however, and there should be no shortage of craftsmen.

CAN TAKE IT

Navy Still Has Sense Of Humor

The Navy, it seems, has a sense of humor and can take a bit of kidding.

Jean Ramond Conriche of San Anselmo found that out when he penned a letter to his son's chaplain, asking him to straighten out a "snafu."

A few days after Ronald Jean Conriche was inducted into the Navy, his father received a form letter informing him that he (the father) was now a "boot" in training at the Navy Training Station in San Diego.

Conriche wrote the chaplain, humorously, that he could pass the spiritual, moral and mental standards required by the Navy, but at age 54, they would have to accept his golf handicap instead of a physical.

Replied the chaplain in the same humorous vein: "I am happy to tell you that our records show we do have your son in the Navy, and by his own name. Now you can breathe easily and without fear of being picked up by the Shore Patrol for being 'over-the-hill,' or desertion.

"In a way, I'm sorry we can't keep you though, because we need people with fine senses of humor and high golf scores."

Old Chinese Temple A Weaverville Landmark

WEAVERVILLE (AP) — Inside the "Temple of the Forest and the Clouds" you'll find unique mementos of early California.

The pagoda-like building, also known as the Joss House, was built near the Trinity Alps in Weaverville shortly after the discovery of gold brought nearly 2,500 Chinese to the area.

Burned down in 1873, the temple was immediately rebuilt and except for some exterior decoration has withstood the test of time well.

It houses many carvings, banners, tapestries and paintings shipped from China to San Francisco, then to Colusa by river steamer and on to Weaverville by mule.

Other fixtures were made by local craftsmen, applying the arts they learned in China.

Three clay altars containing clay images of Chinese deities form the most elaborate display.

Although the interior is in almost the same condition found there 86 years ago, the state has had to do something to meet steady deterioration on the outside.

A skilled woodcarver is working to reproduce 48 of the ornate carvings that decorate the facade of the temple.

Two smaller buildings stand beside the temple — a waiting room and priests' quarters, furnished with cots and rough benches.

On the waiting room wall there's a half-inch thick, 19-inch-wide and 16-foot-long board on which is written the names of the hundreds of Chinese who helped build the temple nearly a century ago.

State Group Aids In Programs For Elderly

By DICK MEISTER

SACRAMENTO (UP) — About three years ago, things began happening among the retired people in Santa Cruz.

Unhappy over a complete lack of community activity for themselves, the old folks — one-fourth of the city's 25,000 population — moved in on an election that too many of the younger citizens had ignored.

They took over the school board, refused to allow a bond election for funds to replace the high school building condemned as unsafe, and began to cut down the school program.

Then a group of alarmed civic leaders called on the state's citizens advisory committee on aging.

Louis Kuplan, the committee's vigorous executive secretary, told how similar problems had been attacked in some areas of California, where the over-65 population is well beyond a million and growing constantly.

There were discussions concerning particulars of the Santa Cruz situation, and plans were laid for a community committee on aging.

Older residents were polled on what they would like to do, and civic organizations built a community center for retired citizens, with 25 different activity programs.

The result, says Kuplan, is that "the older person of Santa Cruz now 'belongs' he has his own governing body, and he does what he wants to do, when he wants to do it."

Now that they "belong," the elderly take part in community affairs, doing a great deal of charity work, for example, and serving as volunteer nurses aides at the understaffed county hospital.

And, for the first time in history, they have come out in active support of a school bond measure.

The case of Santa Cruz perhaps better than anything else shows the approach, methods—and results — sought in the work of Kuplan and the state advisory committee.

There are hundreds of other cities like Santa Cruz, in need of specialized advice and information developed by the committee on the complex and perplexing problems of the aged, says Kuplan.

But he and his three-woman staff, although helping establish at least 85 community centers and programs in the last four years, "can't come anywhere near answering all the requests," Kuplan says.

Which is why the citizens committee is asking that its budget be trebled in 1960-61, to $130,000.

The chances of getting the increase approved, however, are not too high, considering the "hold the line" attitude emerging from budget statements by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

More money or not, it seems certain that next year, as he has for the last eight years, Louis Kuplan will be packing off to this part of the state and that, working to keep the aged occupied and the youthful trained for eventual retirement.

"Are we going to prolong life just so people can vegetate?"

Reed District Boundaries To Be Eyed

Reed Union School District Trustee David D. Ring and Supt. Paul R. Stouffer have been appointed to discuss with Larkspur School District trustees possible boundary revision in the Marin Estates area of Corte Madera.

A third committee member will be selected from the ranks of either the trustees, the Reed administrative staff or the community, according to Stouffer.

Trustee Edwin C. Farley was appointed by the Reed board as chairman of the committee to plan dedication ceremonies of the Bel Aire School building, tentatively set for a Sunday afternoon in February. The ceremonies also will include a program to commemorate the 10th year of unionization of the school district.

Gas Mileage Claims In Auto Ads Under Attack In Louisiana Court

DETROIT (UPI) — The Louisiana Supreme Court could bring to a halt all advertising of gasoline mileage by auto makers.

The court is considering an appeal by American Motors to set aside a state court ruling made last June. In that decision the court ruled that American Motors advertisements telling of the gas consumption record achieved by a Rambler in a test run constituted an expressed warranty that a Rambler buyer could expect to get the same performance.

The suit was brought by a Baton Rouge lawyer who claimed he purchased a 1957 Rambler largely on the basis of ads reporting a Rambler test car had achieved 32 miles per gallon in a cross-country run in 1956.

American Motors argued that its ads stated only that "one" Rambler equipped with overdrive attained 32.09 miles per gallon in a supervised test and produced records to show that this was true.

No one can guarantee any driver specific gasoline mileage from any car, unless he picks a figure so low the auto companies wouldn't want to advertise it.

The gasoline mileage a car will deliver depends on too many variables — the person driving, the condition of the car, weather, traffic conditions, road conditions, the type of gasoline used and many others.

Newsmen who were invited to test the mileage of the "Big Three" compact cars at press introductions this year got anywhere from 30 to 42.8 miles per gallon. But the same newsmen, when they drove the same cars — the Corvair, Falcon and Valiant — in normal traffic got as low as 19 miles per gallon and never higher than 21.

The difference stems from the fact that conditions were different, and the motorist seldom if ever encounters the ideal conditions of a test track.

The figures the auto companies use in advertisements, however, come from the records of professional drivers on public highways.

But conditions still are not the same. A professional driver, aiming at economy, avoids changes in speed like a plague. He keeps wind resistance down by keeping all windows closed. He always drives at speeds of around 35 miles an hour. And he has many other tricks that boost his mileage, including keeping the car in perfect condition.

So if the Louisiana Supreme Court rules that advertised gasoline mileage constitutes a warranty, the auto companies would have to take into account the worst driver, the worst driving conditions and the worst "lemon" of a car they might produce.
